Group In School Dispute Seeks Palestine Meeting

NEGLEY — A community committee today was seeking a meeting with the East Palestine Board of Education concerning the closing of the fourth grade at the Negley School, while 13 students and their mothers showed up at the school for the third day "sit-in."

This morning, however, the fourth-graders — who are supposed to be taken to East Palestine schools by bus under a board plan — and their parents left the school after waiting for an hour for attendance to be taken.

SOME 100 attended a town meeting Thursday night at the fire station at which a committee was named to confer with the board of education some time prior to the regular board meeting Monday night.

Judge D. Barry Dickson of East Palestine County Court has been retained as counsel by the group in its fight to retain a fourth grade at the Negley School.

The board wants the 17 fourth-graders to be taken to East Palestine, claiming there are not enough students in the Negley class to warrant hiring a teacher.

Sentiment voiced at last night's meeting was that the Negley area has in the past and is now "being treated like a second-class community."

THERE WAS discussion by some of those present on the possibility of withdrawing from the East Palestine District and joining the Beaver Local School District.

There was also an expression that the Negley area would not in the future give the strong support to school levies and issues it has in the past. The vote area supported the most recent levy 92-46, while some East Palestine precincts turned down the levy, it was pointed out.

On a unanimous vote by a show of hands, it was agreed the mothers would take the 13 fourth-graders to the school this morning. wait until sufficient time passed for attendance to be taken, then return home.

This action came on the recommendation of Judge Dickson, who said there was a possibility of action by school officials concerning trespassing.

Supt. H. S. Laber yesterday visited the parents in the school and advised them of the regulations on trespassing.

THE MOTHERS last night also said it was a hardship on them to remain in the school all day.

Harry Evans Jr. and Dale Murphy presided at the meeting and were named co-chairmen of the committee to meet with the board. Also on the committee are Harry Evans Sr.,

Long Ford Strike Looms

BULLETIN

DETROIT (AP) — A top official of the United Auto Workers Union predicted today that a nationwide strike against the Ford Motor Co. probably will continue for at least a month before serious bargaining resumes on a new labor contract.

DETROIT (AP) — There were several indications today that the United Auto Workers strike may halt Ford auto production for a long time as both sides stood firm.

And while the walkout by some 160,000 members of the auto workers union has halted Ford operations in 25 states, 1968 model cars rolled off assembly lines at General Motors and Chrysler.

No progress has been reported in negotiations that began July 11 at Ford and ended just after midnight Thursday when the strike began.

No new negotiations are planned although a subcommittee meeting is scheduled for Monday to work out a schedule for further bargaining.

On the basic wage offer alone both sides appear miles apart.

Referring to the Big Three proposal of Aug. 29, one top union bargainer said, "We could have gotten that same amount if we simply extended or renewed the present agreement."

The company says it has no immediate plans for making a new offer.

Although the strike may force production cutbacks in such automotive suppliers as the steel and rubber industries, the chance of government intervention appears slight at this point.

The federal government has never invoked the Taft-Hartley Act to halt an auto strike. Ford has only one major defense contract, a $91.4 million one for 42,000 Jeeps from the firm's Highland Park, Mich., plant. A company spokesman said the government does not consider this production critical.

Walter P. Reuther, UAW president, led Ford workers off the job for what he calls "the longest and most ambitious list of demands" the union has yet sought.

Since both Chrysler and General Motors refused union requests to extend current contracts, union members at the two firms are working, reluctantly, without a contract.

If and when a contract is reached at Ford, the union will use it as a pattern for a settlement at the other two companies.

Union pickets patrolled Ford plants throughout the country with no incidents reported.

Ford says its workers will be losing $5.2 million wages for every day they stay out.

Action Is Completed On Levy At Wellsville

During another special meeting Thursday night, Wellsville Council adopted a resolution to place a 2-mill levy on the November ballot for the construction of a fire station and purchase of a fire truck.

The third and final reading was approved 4 to 1, with Robert Taggart casting the only dissenting vote.

The next regular Council meeting will be Sept. 19.

U.S. Plans Viet Barrier To Head Off Infiltration

Soil-Killers To Be Used First Time

Chemical Aims To Kill Jungle Growth Concealing Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chemical soil-killers will be used in South Vietnam warfare for the first time under the Pentagon's new plan to create a barrier against infiltrating North Vietnamese troops.

The Pentagon said earth-poisoning agents will be sprayed over the cleared barrier zone atop South Vietnam to prevent jungle growth from returning and providing concealment for invading Communists.

Introduction of the sterilants will add a new dimension—and perhaps a controversial one—to an already wide-ranging chemical program aimed at wiping out vegetation including crops in certain areas of South Vietnam.

Secretary of Defense Rorbert S. McNamara announced plans Thursday for the barrier—actually an early-warning zone sown with mines and electronic eyes and ears. He elaborated little about its operation.

Comfirmation of the long-rumored move came at a news conference at which McNamara labeled Michigan Gov. George Romney, a Republican presidential hopeful, as "blind to the truth" in accusing the Johnson Administration of misleading the public about the war.

McNamara also announced:

—The remaining two brigades of the 101st Airborne Division will be among the additional 45,000 men destined for the war zone by June 30.

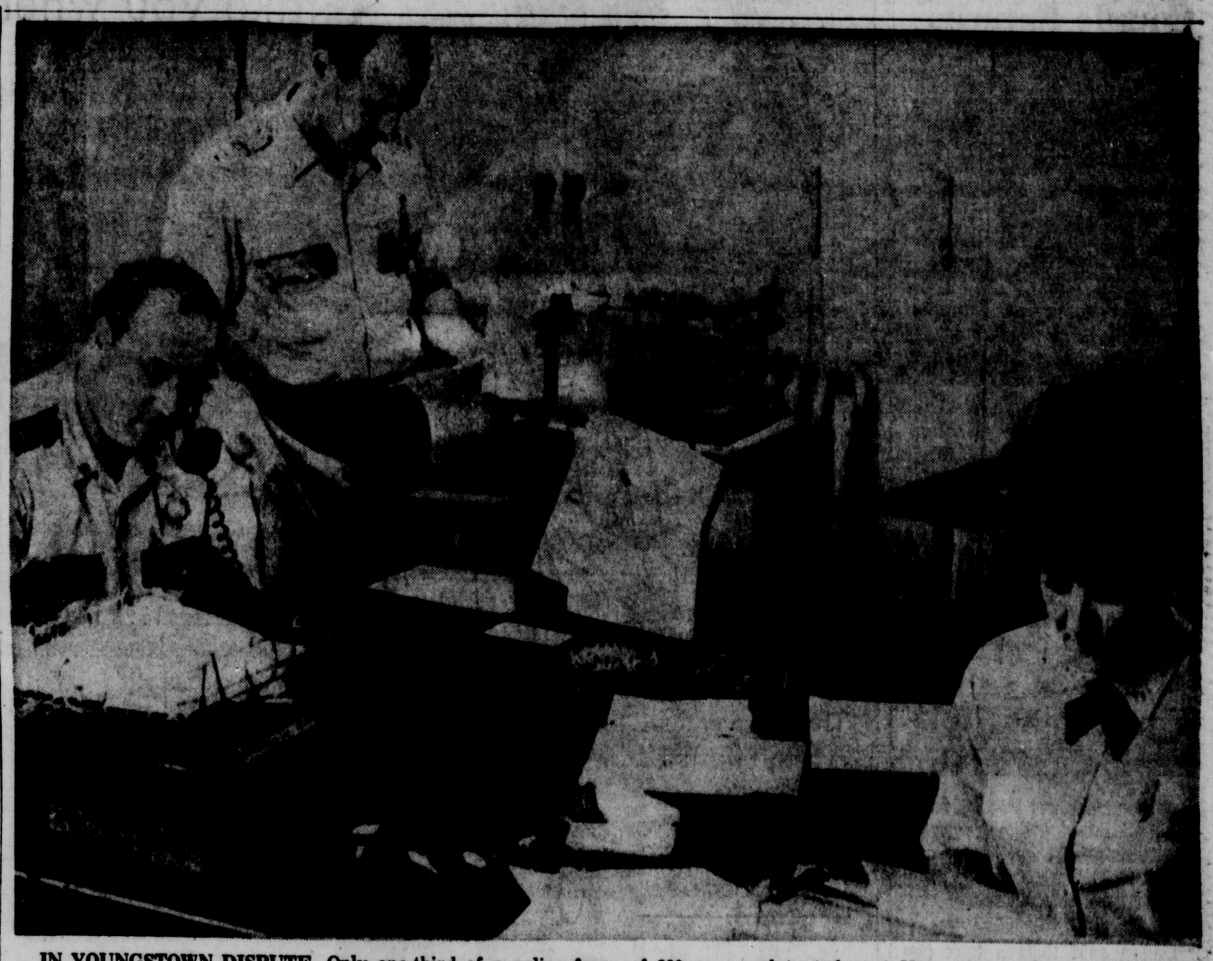
—A new Army division, the 6th Infantry, is being created in January to offset troop deployments from strategic forces based in the United States.

—The Pentagon's open-housing program will be spread nationwide to end what he called "a shameful story of discrimination" against Negro servicemen. Housing sites near military bases which refuse to admit Negro servicemen will be placed off limits to all military men in those areas.

McNamara bared few details about the proposed infiltration barrier other than to say its components would range "from barbed wire to highly sophisticated devices."

The idea is not to block the southward flow of enemy troops— McNamara said that can't be done—but to slow infiltrators while electronic alarms alert U.S. commanders. Mobile American units could then be rushed by helicopter and tank to the point of infiltration.

If extended completely across South Vietnam below the so-called Demilitarized Zone, the trip-wire zone would be more than 40 miles wide.



IN YOUNGSTOWN DISPUTE. Only one-third of a police force of 290 are on duty today at Youngstown after a strike by police and firemen Thursday. U.S. Marines Turn Tables On Ambush

Comb Jungles And Paddy Fields After Killing 92 Of Reds

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Marines combed the jungles and paddy fields for Communist troops in South Vietnam's northern war zone today after turning the tables on a Red ambush and killing 92 of the enemy.

Far to the south, in the Mekong delta, South Vietnamese reported killing 54 members of the Viet Cong's Tay Do battalion, one of the most seasoned Red units in the delta.

Several big Marine sweeps were under way in the northern provinces where nearly 700 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong have been reported killed in hard fighting since Monday around Tam Ky, on the coast, and below the demilitarized zone some 140 miles to the northwest.

American casualties in the area total 115 dead and 382 wounded so far this week, the U.S. Command said.

Although no signifciant action was reported from the area since Thursday, the Strategic Air Command kept up two-a-day raids by its high-altitude B52 bombers to aid the Marines.

One strike Thursday night hit the A Shau Valley infiltration route, in the northwest corner of the country, which has been funneling supplies to the Reds fighting in Quang Nam and Quang Tin provinces.

A second strike early today hit the infiltration route through the demilitarized zone above the Marine outpost at Con Thien, the axis of much recent fighting.

The battles this week in the northernmost provinces—and scattered fighting elsewhere—ended decisively a lull in the ground war that had lasted more than two months. It was evident the Communists, freshly supplied and fairly close to their bases in North Vietnam, were mounting a new offensive in the North, but ranking U.S. officers declined to speculate on whether the Red goal was more battles of attrition to wear down American forces, a campaign to take control of one of the politically sensitive provinces, which seemed unlikely, or something else.

In Police-Firemen Strike

Injunction Eyed At Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Mayor Anthony B. Flask, his request for National Guard troops rejected, turned today to legal steps aimed at ending a walkout by city police and firemen.

Youngstown's mayor, a Democrat, asked Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes Thursday for National Guard help to "meet the safety requirements" of the city. After being told no, Flask said the city would seek a court injunction today ordering the men back to work.

City officials said the injunction request was a temporary measure to halt the walkout that has left police and fire-fighting forces critically short. The issue is more money.

Almost two thirds of the police force remained off duty Thursday and practically the entire Fire Department.

Flask declared a state of emergency Thursday and asked Rhodes to rush guard troops.

The governor turned him down, and his administrative assistant, John McElroy, told Flask by telephone, "It appears from present information that Youngstown city officials have not exhausted all resources and legal procedures available to them."

However, McElroy said a liaison officer is watching the situation in this city of 170,000 and will advise the governor's office if help is needed.

Legal procedures still open to city officials include invoking the state's Ferguson Act, which forbids strikes by public employes, and court injunction, McElroy said.

Police protection was drastically reduced and by Thursday night only one fire station out of 15 was manned as members of the safety forces continued a non-stop seminar that started late Wednesday night.

Fourteen fire stations were closed and seven firemen were on duty at the No. 1 downtown station.

Beaver Hearing Ends

Judge Sets Later Ruling For Midland Police Case

BEAVER — A ruling on an appeal by Midland Patrolman Sam Ratkovich concerning a 3-day suspension from the force in January is not expected until late this month from Beaver County Judge James E. Rowley.

A 2½-hour hearing on the officer's appeal against the suspension without pay by Mayor Eli Corak was heard Thursday in Judge Rowley's court, with testimony by Mayor Corak, Ratkovich and others.

The officer had been suspended by the mayor Jan. 27-29 for alleged conduct unbecoming an officer.

Judge Rowley said the testimony yesterday would be transcribed by the court stenographer and given study by him, and a ruling will be made at the end of the month.

The charges against Ratkovich were that he had accused the mayor of favoritism, argued over operation of the police department, refused to return to duty and refused to obey an order given March 1, 1966.

The charges stemmed primarily from a verbal exchange between the mayor and the policeman outside the mayor's home Jan. 25.

AT THE HEARING yesterday, Mayor Corak said Ratkovich was "billigerent, arrogant and insulting."

When Ratkovich took the witness stand, he said he had approached the mayor Jan. 25 to discuss police department procedure used on the day of the fire at Deramo's Restaurant.

Earlier, Mayor Corak had referred to an order given March 1, 1966, and Dec. 8, 1966, directing officers to file questions and complaints initially with Police Chief Ed Stefl.

He said also that Ratkovich

and others apparently were dissatisfied because they had to fill in for police officers who were called to fight fires for the firemen's pay of $2.50 plus police pay.

During cross - examination, Atty. Robert Kunzelman, Ratkovich's counsel, asked Corak who had filed complaints directly to him after the March 1 order.

CORAK SAID Ratkovich did once or twice, Sgt. George Tepovich, once or twice, Sgt. McLean once and Patrolman Mike Borato once or twice. The mayor said the others came docilely and were satisifed with the answer they got, while Ratkovich was "very belligerant." He said Ratkovich is the first policeman he has had to discipline in his 14 years as Burgess and mayor.

During Kunzelman's cross-examination, Corak said he had received information from some members of his staff about those who testified for Ratkovich at a FOP hearing on the suspension, and subsequently Ratkovich and Sgt. Borato were excluded from overtime work and Sgt. Tepovich was partly excluded.

The mayor allegedly refused to discuss anything with him, Ratkovich said, "You have time for others but not for me." Ratkovich testified the mayor said, "What business did you have asking Mike Haydin if he were deputized?" Sam said he explained that he was concerned about insurance coverage for Mike in the event he was hurt in Midland while on duty.

Ratkovich said the mayor told him he had his record checked and found out he had a bad work record at Crucible and couldn't get another job. The officer said he told him he had worked at an automobile plant recently. The mayor asked, "why didn't you stay there?"

Ratkovich said knee trouble caused by an injury in the line of duty, and consequently he had to give up the extra job.

RATKOVICH said he discussed the need for two policemen in a car on patrol instead of only one and cited cases to him, such as picking up mental patients, where more help was needed.

He said he and the mayor on Jan. 25 discussed a case where the officer chased a speeding car, and while asking the driver for his license and registration, had spotted blood on the man's trousers. Sam told the mayor the man gave him a difficult time but he arrested him on a disorderly conduct charge, then after spotting a revolver made an arrest on violation of the Uniform Firearms Act, but the whole matter was squelched before a hearing could be held the next morning.

He said at no time did the mayor order him to return to work.

Solicitor Frank Suffoletta questioned Ratkovich about his dissatisfaction with police work. Ratkovich said he liked police work but couldn't go along with some things, and cited a time when he issued a ticket to a young man who had run a red light, had outrun the cruiser, after nearly wrecking into it, but the fine had been dismissed by the mayor.

Sam said he objected to the Midland policemen having to direct traffic in the middle of the street during heavy mill traffic, when hand controls at the side could be used.

SGT. GEORGE Tepovich took the witness stand and said he had approached the mayor about complaints two times during 1966 and the mayor had listened to him.

Tepovich, a member of the force for 18 years, cited information from the overtime book showing overtime allotments since the conversation Jan. 25 were Sgt. Vincent D'Itri, 22 days; Sgt. Tepovich, 6; Sgt. McLean, 8; Patrolmen Jakes, 10; Borato, 5; Monac, 10; Anthony, 10; Bratich, 17; Cook, 9; Ratkovich, 2; and Sallis, 11.

Tepovich testified that when he went to Chief Stefl with a question about the schedule, he always said, "See D'Itri." Sgt. Tepovich stated, "Why should I go to another sergeant when the chief is head of the department?"

Sgt. Tepovich testified there are about 12 men on the force who are dissatisfied with the police schedule. "When one man on the force gets 22 days and another gets 2, something has to be wrong," he said.

Kunselman concluded his remarks by stating he wished to show that Mayor Corak had suspended Patrolman Ratkovich not because of the charges as listed, "but simply because Sam Ratkovich was Sam Ratkovich."

Suffoletta said he had no summary to make.

Stanford has beaten San Jose State in football each of the last six years.

Truck Bed Rams Bridge, Blocks Road At Industry

Approximately $3,000 damage resulted to a 1960 International tandem dump truck Thursday at 5:30 p.m. at the Barclay Bridge underpass on Route 68 in Industry Borough when the hydraulic unit on the truck accidently dropped into gear, Police Chief Ray Hendershot reported.

Ray William Masters, 50, of 630 N. 3rd St., Toronto, was traveling west on the bridge when his dump truck bed suddenly lifted and was torn off as the truck proceeded through the underpass. The empty truck bed lay in the underpass, partially blocking it. The truck was owned by Rogers Trucking Inc. of Toronto.

The driver said he did not hear the bed raise, but he had apparently struck a bump that caused the unit to drop into gear. A wrecker was called to remove the bed from the underpass.

Chief Hendershot said Masters was not injured. He said traffic was backed up for quite a distance in both directions during removal operations and road cleanup.

Killed In Saigon

WEIRTON — James R. Rogers, 49, a former Weirton resident who had been residing in Morgantown, was wounded fatally in Saigon, Vietnam, during pre - election terrorism last week by the Viet Cong. He had been working there as a civil engineer.

and others apparently were dissatisfied because they had to fill in for police officers who were called to fight fires for the firemen's pay of $2.50 plus police pay.

During cross - examination, Atty. Robert Kunzelman, Ratkovich's counsel, asked Corak who had filed complaints directly to him after the March 1 order.

CORAK SAID Ratkovich did once or twice, Sgt. George Tepovich, once or twice, Sgt. McLean once and Patrolman Mike Borato once or twice. The mayor said the others came docilely and were satisifed with the answer they got, while Ratkovich was "very belligerant." He said Ratkovich is the first policeman he has had to discipline in his 14 years as Burgess and mayor.

During Kunzelman's cross-examination, Corak said he had received information from some members of his staff about those who testified for Ratkovich at a FOP hearing on the suspension, and subsequently Ratkovich and Sgt. Borato were excluded from overtime work and Sgt. Tepovich was partly excluded.

The mayor allegedly refused to discuss anything with him, Ratkovich said, "You have time for others but not for me." Ratkovich testified the mayor said, "What business did you have asking Mike Haydin if he were deputized?" Sam said he explained that he was concerned about insurance coverage for Mike in the event he was hurt in Midland while on duty.

Ratkovich said the mayor told him he had his record checked and found out he had a bad work record at Crucible and couldn't get another job. The officer said he told him he had worked at an automobile plant recently. The mayor asked, "why didn't you stay there?"

Ratkovich said knee trouble caused by an injury in the line of duty, and consequently he had to give up the extra job.

RATKOVICH said he discussed the need for two policemen in a car on patrol instead of only one and cited cases to him, such as picking up mental patients, where more help was needed.

He said he and the mayor on Jan. 25 discussed a case where the officer chased a speeding car, and while asking the driver for his license and registration, had spotted blood on the man's trousers. Sam told the mayor the man gave him a difficult time but he arrested him on a disorderly conduct charge, then after spotting a revolver made an arrest on violation of the Uniform Firearms Act, but the whole matter was squelched before a hearing could be held the next morning.

He said at no time did the mayor order him to return to work.

Solicitor Frank Suffoletta questioned Ratkovich about his dissatisfaction with police work. Ratkovich said he liked police work but couldn't go along with some things, and cited a time when he issued a ticket to a young man who had run a red light, had outrun the cruiser, after nearly wrecking into it, but the fine had been dismissed by the mayor.

Sam said he objected to the Midland policemen having to direct traffic in the middle of the street during heavy mill traffic, when hand controls at the side could be used.

SGT. GEORGE Tepovich took the witness stand and said he had approached the mayor about complaints two times during 1966 and the mayor had listened to him.

Tepovich, a member of the force for 18 years, cited information from the overtime book showing overtime allotments since the conversation Jan. 25 were Sgt. Vincent D'Itri, 22 days; Sgt. Tepovich, 6; Sgt. McLean, 8; Patrolmen Jakes, 10; Borato, 5; Monac, 10; Anthony, 10; Bratich, 17; Cook, 9; Ratkovich, 2; and Sallis, 11.

Tepovich testified that when he went to Chief Stefl with a question about the schedule, he always said, "See D'Itri." Sgt. Tepovich stated, "Why should I go to another sergeant when the chief is head of the department?"

Sgt. Tepovich testified there are about 12 men on the force who are dissatisfied with the police schedule. "When one man on the force gets 22 days and another gets 2, something has to be wrong," he said.

Kunselman concluded his remarks by stating he wished to show that Mayor Corak had suspended Patrolman Ratkovich not because of the charges as listed, "but simply because Sam Ratkovich was Sam Ratkovich."

Suffoletta said he had no summary to make.

Truck Bed Rams Bridge, Blocks Road At Industry

Approximately $3,000 damage resulted to a 1960 International tandem dump truck Thursday at 5.30 p.m. at the Barclay Bridge underpass on Route 68 in Industry Borough when the hydraulic unit on the truck accidently dropped into gear, Police Chief Ray Hendershot reported.

Ray William Masters, 50, of 630 N. 3rd St., Toronto, was traveling west on the bridge when his dump truck bed suddenly lifted and was torn off as the truck proceeded through the underpass. The empty truck bed lay in the underpass, partially blocking it. The truck was owned by Rogers Trucking Inc. of Toronto.

The driver said he did not hear the bed raise, but he had apparently struck a bump that caused the unit to drop into gear. A wrecker was called to remove the bed from the underpass.

Chief Hendershot said Masters was not injured. He said traffic was backed up for quite a distance in both directions during removal operations and road cleanup.

She told officers she attempted to stop for a car ahead after topping a hill crest, lost control and went off the road. She was treated at Salem Central Clinic.

The Truth About Bargaining

The funeral is over. It is time to close the casket and bury the present-day misconception about collective bargaining.

The strike by United Auto Workers Union against Ford Motor Co. proves collective bargaining, as people have dreamed about it, is dead.

The misconception is demonstrated by the definition of collective bargaining in the Taft-Hartly Act: "The performance of the mutual obligation of the employer and the representative of the employes to meet at reasonable times and confer in good faith with respect to wages, hours and other terms and conditions of employment, or the negotiation of an agreement, or any question arising thereunder, and the execution of a written contract. . . ."

The union's conception of collective bargaining always has been simply a means of applying maximum pressure on a company to get its demands. Workers learned early that individual bargaining was ineffective.

It is a variation of the "united we stand, divided we fall" theme.

The UAW knew a strike was a certainty when it placed before Ford demands termed by its president, Walter Reuther, as being "the longest and most ambitious in UAW history."

The strike is the bludgeon used to beat down company resistance.

Collective bargaining viewed from the management side isn't much different from blackmail — and that is the way it was planned.

The business community always has looked upon unionism as an infringement upon free trade; but when unions were tackling seven-day work weeks and daylight-to-dark hours they had popular support because they clearly were right.

They fought inch by inch for the rights of the working man and for his respectability and dignity.

An expanding American economy means more money for businesses. Popular support would be strongly behind unions today if their demands reflected realism.

But there are no white-armored knights sitting around the bargaining table. Businesses are operated to make as large a profit as possible. Unions are operated to get as large chunk of that profit as possible.

Final solution comes, through surrender oftener than reason.

By refusing to consider reason, unions have brought about the downfall of giant newspapers, brought hardships to their own members and placed the labor movement in a precarious position relatice to government intervention.

It is our hope that in the interest of the working man and the nation, reason will be an invited participant at future negotiations between Ford and the UAW.

But It Can!

So read the report by the Ohio Highway Patrol of the Route 7 crash Wednesday night in which a young East Palestine man was killed when thrown from his car and two other men were injured.

In far too many other injury or fatal mishaps autos have seat belts but the drivers and passengers are not using them.

This is carelessness, this is lack of common senses which is so common on the highway with those who speed, pass on curves, ignore stop signs and travel with bald tires, fogged windshields, leaky mufflers.

The risk of death or injury, it seems, is not accepted by most drivers—"It can't happen to me. . ."

But it can.

Gov. Romney's 'Brainwashing'

Government officials are deeply concerned because Michigan Gov. Romney says he was "brainwashed" about Vietnam in 1965.

This is the governor's way of explaining why he switched from an opinion that the war in Vietnam was morally right and necessary to an opinion that the whole costly, bloody mess was unnecessary and morally wrong.

He expressed the later opinion in a television interview this week.

We believe Gov. Romney's later opinion makes more sense than his early one, but we cannot swallow his explanation that he was "brainwashed" two years ago.

His explanation sounds phony.

What happened in 1965 was that George Romney, already a presidential hopeful, thought it was the political thing to react favorably when asked whether he supported President Johnson's policy in Southeast Asia.

He had doubts at the time and expressed them.

But he was thinking about his own political image. U.S. escalation was just beginning. So he went along with the political pressure of the moment and said he approved.

Today, all the political pressure is from the other direction.

The escalation that had barely begun in 1965 has turned out to be never-ending. Southeast Asia has turned into a remote tail wagging the political structure of the United States.

The governor of Michigan has recovered from his "brainwashing." He now goes along with millions of his countrymen who believe the whole mess in Vietnam was unnecessary and is not morally defensible.

Some of them, be it to their credit, said so in 1965.

The Purpose Of Publicans

There never was any secret in the bad old days about the purpose of the publicans.

They aimed to squeeze the last drop of blood out of long-suffering taxpayers. No one ever gave them the benefit of a kind thought

In modern times, publicans have become semi-respectable. Yet, their purpose never has changed.

They still aim to squeeze the last drop of blood out of taxpayers. They are more systematic about it than they used to be; they now use computers. But they are no less relentless than in biblical times.

Remember this as Congress ponders long-delayed revisions in estate and inheritance taxes in a tax-reform move. The purpose of publicans continues to be maximum revenue.

Equity and fairness are not their primary considerations. Encouragement of enterprise is not a primary consideration. The primary consideration is how to pluck feathers from the geese.

There is the publican point of view, and there is the Republican point of view, so to speak. Except that recently even Democrats are coming around to the point of view that if the publicans aren't stopped they will have squeezed out the last drop of blood and will have nothing left to squeeze but one another.

It's a thought to shudder about. Publicans squeezing one another—ugh!

TRUMAN TWILL

Letter From Cotton Corners

Dear Nephew: It is good to know you are back from vacation so I can sound off again.

My key note in this letter is one of the myths men live by — the myth of sweet reasonableness in collective bargaining. There is no such thing.

There never was.

Collective bargaining should be called "collective coercion." That is what it was intended to be when unionism was developed to offset the power of employers.

Workers were told by the founders of unionism that if they would hang together they could quit hanging separately. The whole thing is described in Barbara Tuchman's book, "The Proud Tower,"

She spends most of her time on the rise of the Labour movement in Britain, but it's one of those things that go through the same evolutionary processes wherever they occur. I never had got around to "The Proud Tower" until your Aunt Effie and I went on a reading binge a week ago.

Unionists had no hope of sweet reasonableness when they developed a technique of collective coercion and heaven knows they found one.

Labor contracts were hammered out in bloody violence. You younger worry warts shouldn't forget it wasn't until the second third of this century that unionism established a foundation of federal legality in this country — and unless its strategists are careful they can undermine that foundation even now with calculated affronts to public opinion.

As to sweet reasonableness, forget it.

That isn't the way the game is played. To think otherwise is to expect Vince Lombardi and the Green Bay Packers to show consideration for their opponents' feelings on the gridirons.

It is like civil rights for Negroes in the South. Sweet seasonablesness, my eye. Until the Negroes went on the muscle, they weren't getting anywhere.

Yet when they did go on the muscle, they exposed themselves to the charge that they were kicking sweet reasonableness in the teeth, just as unions are under the cloud of being unreasonable and arbitrary when they go on the muscle.

They are, for a fact. Under a cloud, I mean. They scare the daylights out of me. I live by the myth of sweet reasonableness, myself. I try to be sweetly reasonable in everything I do, but I hardly need to tell you this is one of several reasons I never have done much.

I am the kind of fellow Leo Durocher derided when he made his classical crack about nice guys coming in last. I wouldn't know how to be a tough union leader or a hard-nosed employer. I'd chicken out when the first sour, unreasonable remark was made.

The myth of sweet reasonableness in collective bargaining has come to the end of the line, I should think, in the 1967 Ford strike. Give our regards to the family.

VICTOR RIESEL

How To Bankrupt An Empire

LONDON:—A quiet revolution is stirring the U.S. Our skilled workers are coming out of their two-car garages, small ranch homes, good flats and are converging variously on the auto industry, shipbuilding, the newspapers, and space industries in particular and business in general. Skilled men are scarce and they believe they have it made. They think prosperity is as permanent as the Rock of Gibralter. Well they should take a second look at the big rock. Politically it's a mighty shaky stone.

Victor Riesel

If our skilled tradesmen want to observe their British cousins running a great nation into the ground let them look eastward to the once mighty United Kingdom. Here the skilled craftsman is as powerful as his American counterpart — and unless he gets less cocky, the British skilled worker will help bankrupt the land, ruin its currency, make private savings almost valueless and find himself on the dole.

So tight are the craft workers union restrictions that fully hundreds of thousands of workers are paid for doing nothing but to stand around. So tough are the unions' jurisdictional lines in the shipbuilding industry it sometimes takes seven highly paid skilled workers to do one man's job — all getting full pay.

This report here is based on personal trips to plants and a thorough examination of the documents at the Royal Commission on Trade Unions and Employes' Associations.

THERE ARE detailed studies proving that in some sections of the British newspaper industries, production and distribution, at least 34 per cent of the employes are paid for doing nothing — redundant, they call them. Superfluous, we call them.

Furthermore, some of the highly paid graphic arts workers — meaning print shops — actually sweep the floors or carry messages to make work. But they can only carry messages or paper from one department to a line drawn on the floor. Then another skilled worker, at skilled rates, picks it up and goes to another chalk line.

There is also "ghost" work. This develops when there is a need for extra pages. Ordinarily such extra work would require additional machines and union men. But the union says that the regular force can handle the sudden spurt. They simply pick up a little speed.

But the pay is reckoned at the rate of what extra equipment and manpower would have been necessary if the union men had not worked at a swifter pace. The ghost machines and gost employes actually are put on the payroll accounting, but the ghosts' wages are divided and handled to the regular staff.

Thus the added costs accrue. In the electrical construction field there are "mates" (apprentices or helpers). Scores of thousands of them are paid for doing nothing or for working three and a half hours during a day. They stand around, hand up a tool now and then or "hold" a ladder for the journeyman electrician. Thus they are paid for doing nothing at all 65 per cent of the time.

Now for shipbuilding. Once the United Kingdom was the world's leader. Craft unions, or their predecessors began when ships were built in wood. Then just about the time our chief Sitting Bull took his first scalp back home and wood began yielding to iron on ship hulls, the Brtitish craft unions decided that tradition is tradition. The works practices of that time still hold over.

The unions developed "demarcation" of labor among themselves (jurisdiction). Sometimes different unions fight for the same work. Sometimes sections of the membership inside one union battle each other for the job.

There is, for example, the making of a portlight. In most shipbuilding yards around the world, one man, perhaps two, make such a portlight. Here this has happened: First a shipwright marks the position of the portlight. A burner (acetylene torch welder) cuts the opening. A caulker "dresses" it. A driller drills and fits the frame. A brass finisher polishes it off and fits the hinged glass frame. A driller fits the deadlight. Then a joiner (or driller) fits the deadlight hook to the lining of the steel deckhead. One such operation may be all that one of these men will do for hours since he must wait for the others to start and finish.

AND THEN there is "overmanning". The practice holding over from wooden frigate days lays down rigid rules for the number of men on a job. In the Mersey district, for example, the Boilermakers insisted on a continued application on a welding agreement signed generations ago. Though it is completely out of date, it can require 42 boilermakers on an acetylene torch job when only two are needed.

Also two men had to be on each torch, though only one was needed.

Add to this jurisdictional rigidity the battles between unions winding up in costly strikes. Plumbers, engineers coppersmiths fight over who shall install certain kinds of piping. Carpenters and upholsterers battle over who should lay linoleum on particular surfaces. Woodworkers (carpenters), sheet-metal workers and shipwrights struggle over who should drill holes in aluminum sheet and bolt it to wood.

Add to all this the tough army of 200,000 union shop steards who do not produce but who are paid high wages by the employer. The shop steward has his place inside the shops and factories of this society but the system does mean that the equivalent of 750,000 men in the U.S. simply do nothing but handle occasional grievances and whip up trouble.

No doubt the scarce skilled worker can get tough anywhere. But he had better have a mind to what may happen when he gets too rigid, too tough and too expensive — and forces his country to price itself out of the world market.

DAVID LAWRENCE

Romney Error

When the American people get ready to vote in the next presidential election, they will ask themselves whether the candidate opposing President Johnson is a man of maturity, experience, judgment and knowledge not only of domestic affairs but of the intricacies of world problems.

If the Republican nominee is deficient in these respects, many voters — much as they may dislike to do so — will vote again for President Johnson.

Gov. George Romney, in his latest statement discussing the Vietnam problem, made a political mistake as he said:

"When I came back from Vietnam, I just had the greatest brainwashing that anybody can get when you go over to Vietnam. Not only by the generals, but also by the diplomatic corps over there, and they do a very thorough job; and, since returning from Vietnam, I've gone into the history of Vietnam, all the way back into World War II and before that. . . .

"AND, AS A result, I have changed my mind, in that particularly I no longer believe that it was necessary for us to get involved in South Vietnam to stop Communist aggression in Southeast Asia and to prevent Chinese Communist domination of Southeast Asia."

Maybe if the Michigan governor had been a member of the cabinet or vice president — with access to all confidential information from abroad — and if he had had some intimate experience with the vicissitudes of international life as they change from day to day, he might be able now to see more objectively the circumstances surrounding America's involvement in Vietnam.

Hindsight is, of course, supposed to be better than foresight.

It is easy to criticize Presidents Kennedy and Johnson for what they did in the Vietnam situation and to argue that some other course would have been better.

The theory that if Dwight Eisenhower had remained president the United States would not have become involved in a land war in Southeast Asia is a hypothetical assumption that the steady pressures of the Communists to take over Southeast Asia would have been ignored by the man in the White House.

The Michigan governor will be reminded that while president Mr. Eisenhower did not hesitate to act promptly in the Suez crisis and against other serious threats to world peace.

THESE DID NOT result in war. Perhaps it was because the Eisenhower policy showed a firmness which the enemy could not mistake.

Certainly it is tragic that the United States had to become engaged in the Vietnam war. But the same might equally be said about the Korean war, World War II and World War I.

Blame cannot be placed on any individual who happened to be president of the United States during these world crises. A decision had to be made on the basis of the facts available at the time.

Communist plotting and intrigue and military threats to world peace are not things that can be penetratingly studied merely by reading history books.

The Asian governments which have sent their troops to South Vietnam have all along been well informed about the objectives of Communist policy, and it is amazing to read Gov. Romney's statement that "we have involved other nations in Soutreast Asia."

Mr. Romney now will be asked how he would have dealt with the threats that have confronted the United States in Southeast Asia in the last several years.

What would his answer have been if subsequent to 1960, all of Vietnam had been overrun by the Communists, and Cambodia, Thailand and Laos were grabbed at the same time, and there ensued a growing menace to South Korea, the Philippines, Australia and New Zealand?

Would Gov. Romney be a president with enough background to deal with an international problem like that in Vietnam?

Certainly before the Republican National Convention next year he will have to clarify his viewpoint and reveal just what steps he would have taken had he been identified with the party in power in a prominent position during the last six or seven years.

The Truth About Bargaining

The funeral is over. It is time to close the casket and bury the present-day misconception about collective bargaining.

The strike by United Auto Workers Union against Ford Motor Co. proves collective bargaining, as people have dreamed about it, is dead.

The misconception is demonstrated by the definition of collective bargaining in the Taft-Hartly Act: "The performance of the mutual obligation of the employer and the representative of the employes to meet at reasonable times and confer in good faith with respect to wages, hours and other terms and conditions of employment, or the negotiation of an agreement, or any question arising thereunder, and the execution of a written contract. . . ."

The union's conception of collective bargaining always has been simply a means of applying maximum pressure on a company to get its demands. Workers learned early that individual bargaining was ineffective.

It is a variation of the "united we stand, divided we fall" theme.

The UAW knew a strike was a certainty when it placed before Ford demands termed by its president, Walter Reuther, as being "the longest and most ambitious in UAW history."

The strike is the bludgeon used to beat down company resistance.

Collective bargaining viewed from the management side isn't much different from blackmail — and that is the way it was planned.

The business community always has looked upon unionism as an infringement upon free trade; but when unions were tackling seven-day work weeks and daylight-to-dark hours they had popular support because they clearly were right.

They fought inch by inch for the rights of the working man and for his respectability and dignity.

An expanding American economy means more money for businesses. Popular support would be strongly behind unions today if their demands reflected realism.

But there are no white-armored knights sitting around the bargaining table. Businesses are operated to make as large a profit as possible. Unions are operated to get as large chunk of that profit as possible.

Final solution comes, through surrender oftener than reason.

By refusing to consider reason, unions have brought about the downfall of giant newspapers, brought hardships to their own members and placed the labor movement in a precarious position relatice to government intervention.

It is our hope that in the interest of the working man and the nation, reason will be an invited participant at future negotiations between Ford and the UAW.

But It Can!

So read the report by the Ohio Highway Patrol of the Route 7 crash Wednesday night in which a young East Palestine man was killed when thrown from his car and two other men were injured.

In far too many other injury or fatal mishaps autos have seat belts but the drivers and passengers are not using them.

This is carelessness, this is lack of common senses which is so common on the highway with those who speed, pass on curves, ignore stop signs and travel with bald tires, fogged windshields, leaky mufflers.

The risk of death or injury, it seems, is not accepted by most drivers—"It can't happen to me. . ."

But it can.

Gov. Romney's 'Brainwashing'

Government officials are deeply concerned because Michigan Gov. Romney says he was "brainwashed" about Vietnam in 1965.

This is the governor's way of explaining why he switched from an opinion that the war in Vietnam was morally right and necessary to an opinion that the whole costly, bloody mess was unnecessary and morally wrong.

He expressed the later opinion in a television interview this week.

We believe Gov. Romney's later opinion makes more sense than his early one, but we cannot swallow his explanation that he was "brainwashed" two years ago.

His expianation sounds phony.

What happened in 1965 was that George Romney, already a presidential hopeful, thought it was the political thing to react favorably when asked whether he supported President Johnson's policy in Southeast Asia.

He had doubts at the time and expressed them.

But he was thinking about his own political image. U.S. escalation was just beginning. So he went along with the political pressure of the moment and said he approved.

Today, all the political pressure is from the other direction.

The escalation that had barely begun in 1965 has turned out to be never-ending. Southeast Asia has turned into a remote tail wagging the political structure of the United States.

The governor of Michigan has recovered from his "brainwashing." He now goes along with millions of his countrymen who believe the whole mess in Vietnam was unnecessary and is not morally defensible.

Some of them, be it to their credit, said so in 1965.

The Purpose Of Publicans

There never was any secret in the bad old days about the purpose of the publicans.

They aimed to squeeze the last drop of blood out of long-suffering taxpayers. No one ever gave them the benefit of a kind thought

In modern times, publicans have become semi-respectable. Yet, their purpose never has changed.

They still aim to squeeze the last drop of blood out of taxpayers. They are more systematic about it than they used to be; they now use computers. But they are no less relentless than in biblical times.

Remember this as Congress ponders long-delayed revisions in estate and inheritance taxes in a tax-reform move. The purpose of publicans continues to be maximum revenue.

Equity and fairness are not their primary considerations. Encouragement of enterprise is not a primary consideration. The primary consideration is how to pluck feathers from the geese.

There is the publican point of view, and there is the Republican point of view, so to speak. Except that recently even Democrats are coming around to the point of view that if the publicans aren't stopped they will have squeezed out the last drop of blood and will have nothing left to squeeze but one another.

It's a thought to shudder about. Publicans squeezing one another—ugh!

TRUMAN TWILL

Letter From Cotton Corners

Dear Nephew: It is good to know you are back from vacation so I can sound off again.

My key note in this letter is one of the myths men live by — the myth of sweet reasonableness in collective bargaining. There is no such thing.

There never was.

Collective bargaining should be called "collective coercion." That is what it was intended to be when unionism was developed to offset the power of employers.

Workers were told by the founders of unionism that if they would hang together they could quit hanging separately. The whole thing is described in Barbara Tuchman's book, "The Proud Tower."

She spends most of her time on the rise of the Labour movement in Britain, but it's one of those things that go through the same evolutionary processes wherever they occur. I never had got around to "The Proud Tower" until your Aunt Effie and I went on a reading binge a week ago.

Unionists had no hope of sweet reasonableness when they developed a technique of collective coercion and heaven knows they found none.

Labor contracts were hammered out in bloody violence. You younger worry warts shouldn't forget it wasn't until the second third of this century that unionism established a foundation of federal legality in this country — and unless its strategists are careful they can undermine that foundation even now with calculated affronts to public opinion.

As to sweet reasonableness, forget it.

That isn't the way the game is played. To think otherwise is to expect Vince Lombardi and the Green Bay Packers to show consideration for their opponents' feelings on the gridirons.

It is like civil rights for Negroes in the South. Sweet seasonablesness, my eye. Until the Negroes went on the muscle, they weren't getting anywhere.

Yet when they did go on the muscle, they exposed themselves to the charge that they were kicking sweet reasonableness in the teeth, just as unions are under the cloud of being unreasonable and arbitrary when they go on the muscle.

They are, for a fact. Under a cloud, I mean. They scare the daylights out of me. I live by the myth of sweet reasonableness, myself. I try to be sweetly reasonable in everything I do, but I hardly need to tell you this is one of several reasons I never have done much.

I am the kind of fellow Leo Durocher derided when he made his classical crack about nice guys coming in last. I wouldn't know how to be a tough union leader or a hard-nosed employer. I'd chicken out when the first sour, unreasonable remark was made.

The myth of sweet reasonableness in collective bargaining has come to the end of the line, I should think, in the 1967 Ford strike. Give our regards to the family.

VICTOR RIESEL

How To Bankrupt An Empire

LONDON:—A quiet revolution is stirring the U.S. Our skilled workers are coming out of their two-car garages, small ranch homes, good flats and are converging variously on the auto industry, shipbuilding, the newspapers, and space industries in particular and business in general. Skilled men are scarce and they believe they have it made. They think prosperity is as permanent as the Rock of Gibralter. Well they should take a second look at the big rock. Politically it's a mighty shaky stone.

Victor Riesel

If our skilled tradesmen want to observe their British cousins running a great nation into the ground let them look eastward to the once mighty United Kingdom. Here the skilled craftsman is as powerful as his American counterpart — and unless he gets less cocky, the British skilled worker will help bankrupt the land, ruin its currency, make private savings almost valueless and find himself on the dole.

So tight are the craft workers union restrictions that fully hundreds of thousands of workers are paid for doing nothing but to stand around. So tough are the unions' jurisdictional lines in the shipbuilding industry it sometimes takes seven highly paid skilled workers to do one man's job — all getting full pay.

This report here is based on personal trips to plants and a thorough examination of the documents at the Royal Commission on Trade Unions and Employes' Associations.

THERE ARE detailed studies proving that in some sections of the British newspaper industries, production and distribution, at least 34 per cent of the employes are paid for doing nothing — redundant, they call them. Superfluous, we call them.

Furthermore, some of the highly paid graphic arts workers — meaning print shops — actually sweep the floors or carry messages to make work. But they can only carry messages or paper from one department to a line drawn on the floor. Then another skilled worker, at skilled rates, picks it up and goes to another chalk line.

There is also "ghost" work. This develops when there is a need for extra pages. Ordinarily such extra work would require additional machines and union men. But the union says that the regular force can handle the sudden spurt. They simply pick up a little speed.

But the pay is reckoned at the rate of what extra equipment and manpower would have been necessary if the union men had not worked at a swifter pace. The ghost machines and gost employes actually are put on the payroll accounting, but the ghosts' wages are divided and handled to the regular staff.

Thus the added costs accrue. In the electrical construction field there are "mates" (apprentices or helpers). Scores of thousands of them are paid for doing nothing or for working three and a half hours during a day. They stand around, hand up a tool now and then or "hold" a ladder for the journeyman electrician. Thus they are paid for doing nothing at all 65 per cent of the time.

Now for shipbuilding. Once the United Kingdom was the world's leader. Craft unions, or their predecessors began when ships were built in wood. Then just about the time our chief Sitting Bull took his first scalp back home and wood began yielding to iron on ship hulls, the British craft unions decided that tradition is tradition. The works practices of that time still hold over.

The unions developed "demarcation" of labor among themselves (jurisdiction). Sometimes different unions fight for the same work. Sometimes sections of the membership inside one union battle each other for the job.

There is, for example, the making of a portlight. In most shipbuilding yards around the world, one man, perhaps two, make such a portlight. Here this has happened: First a shipwright marks the position of the portlight. A burner (acetylene torch welder) cuts the opening. A caulker "dresses" it. A driller drills and fits the frame. A brass finisher polishes it off and fits the hinged glass frame. A driller fits the deadlight. Then a joiner (or driller) fits the deadlight hook to the lining of the steel deckhead. One such operation may be all that one of these men will do for hours since he must wait for the others to start and finish.

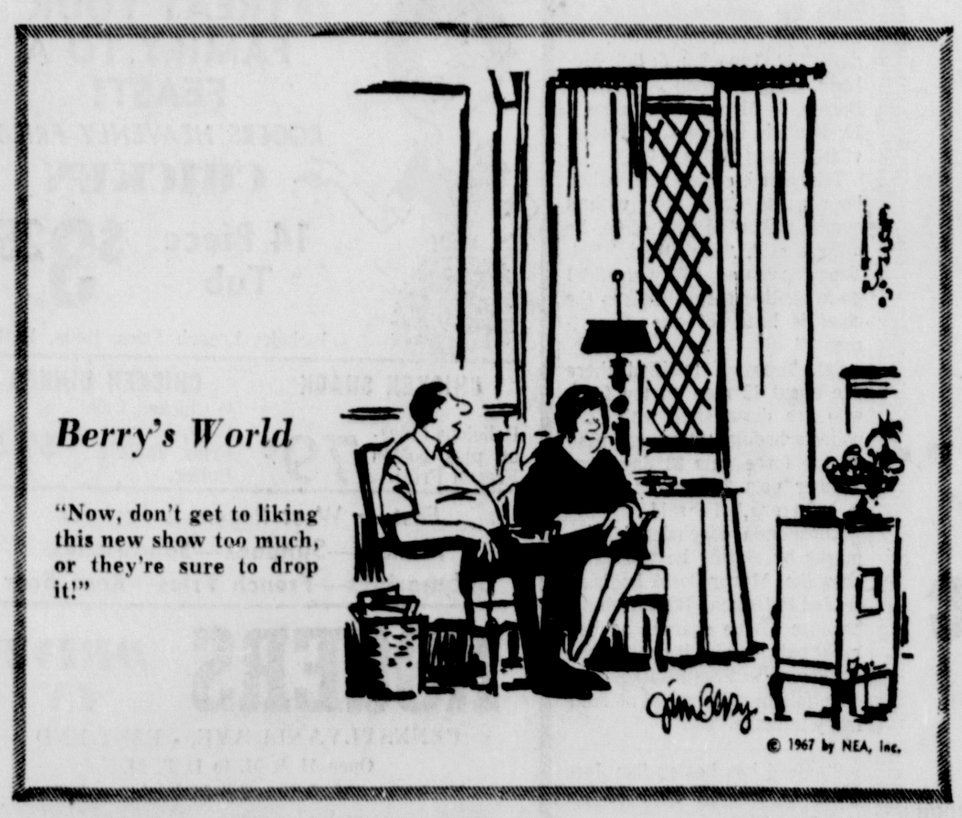
AND THEN there is "overmanning". The practice holding over from wooden frigate days lays down rigid rules for the number of men on a job. In the Mersey district, for example, the Boilermakers insisted on a continued application on a welding agreement signed generations ago. Though it is completely out of date, it can require 42 boilermakers on an acetylene torch job when only two are needed.

Also two men had to be on each torch, though only one was needed.

Add to this jurisdictional rigidity the battles between unions winding up in costly strikes. Plumbers, engineers coppersmiths fight over who shall install certain kinds of piping. Carpenters and upholsterers battle over who should lay linoleum on particular surfaces. Woodworkers (carpenters), sheet-metal workers and shipwrights struggle over who should drill holes in aluminum sheet and bolt it to wood.

Add to all this the tough army of 200,000 union shop steards who do not produce but who are paid high wages by the employer. The shop steward has his place inside the shops and factories of this society but the system does mean that the equivalent of 750,000 men in the U.S. simply do nothing but handle occasional grievances and whip up trouble.

No doubt the scarce skilled worker can get tough anywhere. But he had better have a mind to what may happen when he gets too rigid, too tough and too expensive — and forces his country to price itself out of the world market.



DAVID LAWRENCE

Romney Error

When the American people get ready to vote in the next presidential election, they will ask themselves whether the candidate opposing President Johnson is a man of maturity, experience, judgment and knowledge not only of domestic affairs but of the intricacies of world problems.

If the Republican nominee is deficient in these respects, many voters — much as they may dislike to do so — will vote again for President Johnson.

Gov. George Romney, in his latest statement discussing the Vietnam problem, made a political mistake as he said:

"When I came back from Vietnam, I just had the greatest brainwashing that anybody can get when you go over to Vietnam. Not only by the generals, but also by the diplomatic corps over there, and they do a very thorough job; and, since returning from Vietnam, I've gone into the history of Vietnam, all the way back into World War II and before that. . . .

Strike Threatened In Baltimore

Unrest In Teacher Ranks Spreading Across Nation

By The Associated Press

Unrest in the ranks of the nation's teachers widened today as the Baltimore school system was threatened with a strike. Detroit teachers remained out and New York City schools braced for a threatened mass resignation Monday.

More than 600,000 youngsters were already enjoying extended summer vacations in Michigan, Broward County, Fla., East St. Louis, Ill., and McCracken County, Ky. Strikes in Baltimore and New York could add nearly 1.3 million to that total.

The Baltimore teachers union said a strike could occur before the end of next week after negotiations with school officials broke down Thursday over bargaining procedures and nonteaching duties.

The union representing 8,000 teachers said classes would open Monday as scheduled but warned that the city's more than 194,000 pupils might be back out in the parks and playgrounds before the end of the week. A membership meeting was called for Tuesday.

In Michigan, pickets continued to march in many of the 30 school districts where contracts are yet to be signed. Nearly half a million youngsters in 17 districts—including 300,000 in Detroit—remained locked out of their classrooms.

Both teachers and school officials awaited a state court of appeals hearing Saturday on whether circuit courts can grant injunctions to force teachers without contracts back into the schools.

A few youngsters picketed in Detroit. "We want the teachers to get their money, but we want to go back to school," said one high school girl. Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh ordered public swimming pools kept open and recreation leaders to stay on duty.

Some 2,000 members of the United Federation of Teachers delegate assembly in New York City voted overwhelmingly Thursday night to turn down a two-year, $125-million contract proposal and go ahead with a threatened mass resignation Monday.

The Board of Education's final offer must still be put to a general membership meeting for final action but union president Albert Shanker said, "I am confident the members will back the union leadership."

Meanwhile School Supt. Bernard Donovan directed 1,500 nonteaching members of the system who hold licenses to report to district offices Monday if the resignations occur.

Salary demands of the striking or strike-threatening teachers have ranged from $300 a year in Kentucky to $4,550 more annually after two years for top-scale New York teachers.

Helpful Move Tied To Local 3-Way Crash

A Jefferson County man's helpful gesture in allowing another driver to pull out of an alley into heavy traffic helped set the stage Thursday night for a three-way collision, police reported.

The unusual crash, timed at 8:35 on W. 4th St. at Peach Alley, involved a 1959 convertible driven by Dr. J. Keith Rugh, 56, of 1112 Ohio Ave., a 1963 model compact operated by Albert K. Bright, 62, of 165 N. Surrey Rd. and a 1963 model two-door sedan operated by Earl Wayne Alley, 24, of Irondale, officers said.

Dr. Rugh, driving north in Peach Alley, found W. 4th St. lined with heavy traffic, so he halted at the intersection. Alley, driving west on W. 4th St., left a gap in the traffic lane and motioned for the physician to proceed.

But as Dr. Rugh pulled onto W. 4th from the alley, there was a collision between his auto and Bright's eastbound car and Bright's auto then struak Alley's vehicle, officers said. Bright told police that Dr. Rugh's car struck the side of his car, causing it to hit Alley's auto.

The heaviest damage resulted to Bright's auto. The entire left side was smashed, officers said. Bright and his wife, Ruth E. Bright, 61, were examined at City Hospital and found to be uninjured.

A mishap at 8:26 p.m. Thursday in Drury Ln. at Washington St. caused minor damage to a 1963 sedan driven by Florence Blankenship of 509 Louisiana Ave., Chester, and a 1967 model convertible operated by Bob Blackmore, 29, of Industry RD 2, officers said. The woman was halted in Drury Ln. waiting to turn onto Washington St. when Blackmore attempted to pass and struck the left rear fender of the Chester auto, police said.

A mishap early Thursday afternoon on E. 4th St. involved a 1967 model car driven by Mrs. Louella Mae Greenwood of Oakmont and a 1963 sedan driven by Ilene Freeman of RD 3, officers said. The Oakmont woman was pulling from the Ceramic Parking lot and Mrs. Freeman was driving west on E. 4th St., officers said.

Strike Threatened In Baltimore

Unrest In Teacher Ranks Spreading Across Nation

By The Associated Press

Unrest in the ranks of the nation's teachers widened today as the Baltimore school system was threatened with a strike. Detroit teachers remained out and New York City schools braced for a threatened mass resignation Monday.

More than 600,000 youngsters were already enjoying extended summer vacations in Michigan, Broward County, Fla., East St. Louis, Ill., and McCracken County, Ky. Strikes in Baltimore and New York could add nearly 1.3 million to that total.

The Baltimore teachers union said a strike could occur before the end of next week after negotiations with school officials broke down Thursday over bargaining procedures and nonteaching duties.

The union representing 8,000 teachers said classes would open Monday as scheduled but warned that the city's more than 194,000 pupils might be back out in the parks and playgrounds before the end of the week. A membership meeting was called for Tuesday.

In Michigan, pickets continued to march in many of the 30 school districts where contracts are yet to be signed. Nearly half a million youngsters in 17 districts—including 300,000 in Detroit—remained locked out of their classrooms.

Both teachers and school officials awaited a state court of appeals hearing Saturday on whether circuit courts can grant injunctions to force teachers without contracts back into the schools.

A few youngsters picketed in Detroit. "We want the teachers to get their money, but we want to go back to school," said one high school girl. Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh ordered public swimming pools kept open and recreation leaders to stay on duty.

Some 2,000 members of the United Federation of Teachers delegate assembly in New York City voted overwhelmingly Thursday night to turn down a two-year, $125-million contract proposal and go ahead with a threatened mass resignation Monday.

The Board of Education's final offer must still be put to a general membership meeting for final action but union president Albert Shanker said, "I am confident the members will back the union leadership."

Meanwhile School Supt. Bernard Donovan directed 1,500 nonteaching members of the system who hold licenses to report to district offices Monday if the resignations occur.

Salary demands of the striking or strike-threatening teachers have ranged from $300 a year in Kentucky to $4,550 more annually after two years for top-scale New York teachers.

Helpful Move Tied To Local 3-Way Crash

A Jefferson County man's helpful gesture in allowing another driver to pull out of an alley into heavy traffic helped set the stage Thursday night for a three-way collision, police reported.

The unusual crash, timed at 8:35 on W. 4th St. at Peach Alley, involved a 1959 convertible driven by Dr. J. Keith Rugh, 56, of 1112 Ohio Ave., a 1963 model compact operated by Albert K. Bright, 62, of 165 N. Surrey Rd. and a 1963 model two-door sedan operated by Earl Wayne Alley, 24, of Irondale, officers said.

Dr. Rugh, driving north in Peach Alley, found W. 4th St. lined with heavy traffic, so he halted at the intersection. Alley, driving west on W. 4th St., left a gap in the traffic lane and motioned for the physician to proceed.

But as Dr. Rugh pulled onto W. 4th from the alley, there was a collision between his auto and Bright's eastbound car and Bright's auto then struck Alley's vehicle, officers said. Bright told police that Dr. Rugh's car struck the side of his car, causing it to hit Alley's auto.

The heaviest damage resulted to Bright's auto. The entire left side was smashed, officers said. Bright and his wife, Ruth E. Bright, 61, were examined at City Hospital and found to be uninjured.

A mishap at 8:26 p.m. Thursday in Drury Ln. at Washington St. caused minor damage to a 1963 sedan driven by Florence Blankenship of 509 Louisiana Ave., Chester, and a 1967 model convertible operated by Bob Blackmore, 29, of Industry RD 2, officers said. The woman was halted in Drury Ln. waiting to turn onto Washington St. when Blackmore attempted to pass and struck the left rear fender of the Chester auto, police said.

A mishap early Thursday afternoon on E. 4th St. involved a 1967 model car driven by Mrs. Louella Mae Greenwood of Oakmont and a 1963 sedan driven by Ilene Freeman of RD 3, officers said. The Oakmont woman was pulling from the Ceramic Parking lot and Mrs. Freeman was driving west on E. 4th St., officers said.

Judge Dismisses Frick Suit 'With Prejudice'

CARLISLE, Pa. (AP) — A 2½ year legal battle between a wealthy Pittsburgh heiress and a noted Pennsylvania historian-author apparently ended in court Thursday.

Judge Clinton R. Weidner, who presided over the litigation since its beginning in January, 1965, handed down an order in Cumberland County Court dismissing the suit "with prejudice."

This means that, as far as Weidner's court is concerned the case is closed.

The suit was filed by Miss Helen Clay Frick, reputed to be one of the world's wealthiest women, against Dr. Sylvester K. Stevens, executive director of the State Historical and Museum Commission.

It contended that Stevens's latest history, "Pennsylvania: Birthplace of a Nation," contained passages that defamed the memory of her father, Pittsburgh industrialist Henry Clay Frick, who died in 1919.

It sought to halt any further publication of the book, which first was put out in hardback by Random House, Inc. of New York in 1964 and in paperback the following year.

Ironically, Miss Frick filed the suit after receiving a copy of the first edition from Stevens as a Christmas gift.

Essentially, Miss Frick objected to passages she said described her father's coke holdings as a monopoly and his labor practices as exploitation.

In his opinion Thursday, Judge Weidner said the statements in question were "not malicious" but were born of "reasonable investigation and research" by the author.

Weidner's decision came almost as an anticlimax to lengthy and often dramatic litigation that was followed with keen interest by other writers. Both parties tried to move the case to the federal courts but failed.

Firm Begins Data Link To Home Offices

The East Liverpool District office of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. has begun operation of a new communications link with a computer at the firm's home office at New York.

John Misitigh, district manager, said the automatic data system provides for a new and faster exchange of information, and one-day service on accounts.

The equipment at the East Liverpool office includes a console with a teletypewriter, telephone and electronic gear, and is part of a $15 million system which will link over 800 district offices with the home office computer by the end of the year.

The local console is tied into the Honeywell 1800 computer at New York with telephone lines. Daily at the close of business, the New York computer dials the local console and takes from it the information accumulated during the day.

This consists of data on premium and loan collections, changes of address, inquiries and other items. During the night, the computer processes the data, updates its files, prepares answers, and the next morning, dials the local console and feeds it the information before the office opens.

Misitigh said the entirely automatic operation eliminates massive files, cuts manual reporting, reduces errors and cuts the local staff record-keeping workload.

Firm Begins Data Link To Home Offices

The East Liverpool District office of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. has begun operation of a new communications link with a computer at the firm's home office at New York.

John Misitigh, district manager, said the automatic data system provides for a new and faster exchange of information, and one-day service on accounts.

The equipment at the East Liverpool office includes a console with a teletypewriter, telephone and electronic gear, and is part of a $15 million system which will link over 800 district offices with the home office computer by the end of the year.

The local console is tied into the Honeywell 1800 computer at New York with telephone lines. Daily at the close of business, the New York computer dials the local console and takes from it the information accumulated during the day.

This consists of data on premium and loan collections, changes of address, inquiries and other items. During the night, the computer processes the data, updates its files, prepares answers, and the next morning, dials the local console and feeds it the information before the office opens.

Misitigh said the entirely automatic operation eliminates massive files, cuts manual reporting, reduces errors and cuts the local staff record-keeping workload.

Facts and Fallacies about Jewelry

by W. D. ORR

FALLACY:
The karat standard in gold refers to the weight, as the carat does in diamonds.

FACT:
Carat means weight in gems, but karat in gold is a grading for fine gold content, 24-karat being pure gold. Pure gold is too soft for practical use in jewelry, so combinations of copper, silver, zinc or nickel are added. 22-karat gold, for instance, has 1½ parts of copper and ½ part silver to 22 parts gold. Other standard grades are 18, 14, 12 and 10 karat.

CONCLUSION:
For fine jewelry in gold, silver and precious stones, see our gift selection now. Fine jewelry is our business.

Facts and Fallacies about Jewelry

by W. D. ORR

FALLACY:
The karat standard in gold refers to the weight, as the carat does in diamonds.

FACT:
Carat means weight in gems, but karat in gold is a grading for fine gold content, 24-karat being pure gold. Pure gold is too soft for practical use in jewelry, so combinations of copper, silver, zinc or nickel are added. 22-karat gold, for instance, has 1½ parts of copper and ½ part silver to 22 parts gold. Other standard grades are 18, 14, 12 and 10 karat.

CONCLUSION:
For fine jewelry in gold, silver and precious stones, see our gift selection now. Fine jewelry is our business.

One woman said many people feel that the board plans to eventually abandon the school, which is only 11 years old and on which $25,000 is owed. It was pointed out this year's third grade is also small, and there probably would be no fourth grade here next year.

Many at the meeting criticized the conduct of the board on three occasions when a Negley delegation attended meetings to discuss the problem. It was said the delegation was not offered seats, was almost ignored and was treated "shabbily."

A newsman said today none of the visits of the Negley delegation were included in minutes of board meetings so far as he knows.

Some at the meeting last night objected to the lack of a school patrol along Route 154 at the Negley School, pointing out there were patrols in East Palestine school areas.

Evans reported he had conferred by phone earlier this week with State School Supt. Martin Essex, who said his office had no immediate connection with the matter since it was strictly a local board situation.

The gown was fashioned with a bateau neckline, elbow - length alencon lace sleeves and an empire lace bodice enhanced with seed pearls on a line of silk organza with alencon lace appliques. Her detachable chapel - length train was edged with scalloped alencon lace.

She carried a cascade of white orchids and carnations tied with white velvet streamers. The traditional bridal customs were observed. She carried a handkerchief given by her ringbearer, James G. Maloney. Her pearl necklace and earrings were gifts of the bridegroom.

The attendants wore identically styled floor - length gowns of dove blue linen and venice lace. The gowns were fashioned with scoop necklines, three-quarter tea-cup sleeves with lace trim, and A-line skirts with a back fullness. They chose matching hats and short gloves. Each carried a cascade of white carnations and yellow roses tied with yellow velvet ribbons. Pearl necklaces with matching earrings were gifts of the bride.

Miss Judy Biskup was the flower girl. She wore a white ruffled dress with gloves and carried a basket of white daisies and carnations tied with yellow velvet ribbons. She wore a matching headband.

Negley

One woman said many people feel that the board plans to eventually abandon the school, which is only 11 years old and on which $25,000 is owed. It was pointed out this year's third grade is also small, and there probably would be no fourth grade here next year.

Many at the meeting criticized the conduct of the board on three occasions when a Negley delegation attended meetings to discuss the problem. It was said the delegation was not offered seats, was almost ignored and was treated "shabbily."

A newsman said today none of the visits of the Negley delegation were included in minutes of board meetings so far as he knows.

Some at the meeting last night objected to the lack of a school patrol along Route 154 at the Negley School, pointing out there were patrols in East Palestine school areas.

Evans reported he had conferred by phone earlier this week with State School Supt. Martin Essex, who said his office had no immediate connection with the matter since it was strictly a local board situation.

Twins, Red Sox Win, Gain On Idle White Sox, Tigers

Oliva Sparkplug In Twins' Rally

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Lonborg, down about 20 pounds from his normal weight, says he's a little tired. The New York Yankees, down about 20 games from their normal position, are not impressed.

Lonberg, the ace Boston righthander, threw his second three-hitter against the Yankees in nine days Thursday night, leading the Red Sox to a 3-1 victory. Minnesota, which beat Baltimore 4-2, remained in first place in the American League, one percentage point over Boston.

The victories shattered the virtual four-way tie as Detroit and Chicago, idle Thursday, fell half a game off the pace.

Lonborg's victory over the Yankees, now mired in ninth place 17½ games off the pace at a time when they're usually running away with the flag, was all but a carbon copy of the one in New York on Aug. 29.

In both cases, the score was 3-1. In both cases, Lonborg gave up only three hits. In both cases, a home run by Tom Tresh spoiled the shutout.

"I think I'm a little tired," Lonborg said when his 19th victory was in the books. "It's been a long season for me. I started out weighing 215 and I'm down to about 195. But don't get me wrong. I'm not so tired that I can't contribute my share down the stretch."

Rico Petrocelli provided the power for the Red Sox, driving in two runs with his 14th homer and a double. Lonborg himself provided the other one with a ground-rule double.

The Twins hung onto their precarious lead with two runs in the eighth inning. Tony Oliva delivered a double that cracked a 2-2 tie and Bob Allison's single sent Oliva in. Dean Chance won his 18th game, stopping the Orioles on four hits.

Pirates Win Behind Sisk

Newlywed Chris Short Beaten By Cincinnati

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The day was perfect for newlywed Chris Short until the Cincinnati Reds crashed his wedding reception.

Short, Philadelphia's 29-year-old southpaw ace, took a bride Thursday afternoon, then pitched five perfect innings against Cincinnati Thursday night.

But Leo Cardenas' leadoff single in the sixth ended the hitless string, Tommy Harper poked another single, Tommy Helms walked and Lee May smacked a bases-loaded triple, ruining Short's evening and giving the Reds a 3-1 victory over the Phillies.

In other National League games, St. Louis clubbed the New York Mets 9-2 behind Bob Gibson, San Francisco nipped Houston 3-2 in 15 innings, Pittsburgh downed Atlanta 4-2 and the Chicago Cubs squeezed past Los Angeles 3-2 in 12 innings.

Short married Marsha Hickling of Largo, Fla., in Valley Forge, Pa., after a dizzy whirl of wedding preparations that began Wednesday when the Phillies stepped off a plane from Atlanta.

The couple, who met at the Phillies' Clearwater, Fla., spring training base last spring, obtained a marriage license one minute before the license bureau closed Wednesday.

May's triple gave Milt Pappas a 3-0 lead and the Cincinnati right-hander went on to post his 15th victory with ninth-inning help from Ted Abernathy.

Gibson, pitching for the first time since July 15, when a wine drive by Roberto Clemente cracked a bone in his right leg, worked five innings and was credited with his 11th victory.

The Cards' ace was tagged for eight hits before turning over an 8-1 lead to reliever Larry Jaster, but said afterward the leg hadn't bothered him.

Dal Maxvill paced the Cards' 16-hit attack with three singles and a double while Roger Maris and Julian Javier connected for homers.

Bob Schroder singled with two out in the 15th inning at San Francisco, took second when Ken Henderson was nicked by a pitch and scored the winning run on Jesus Alou's single. The lose was Houston's eighth in a row. The Giants have won six straight.

Jim Hart's infield hit in the ninth knocked in the tying run for the Giants, climaxing a two-run rally.

The Pirates forged a 4-0 lead on run-scoring singles by pitcher Tommie Sisk and Maury Wills in the fourth inning and a two-run fifth keyed by doubles by Clemente and Jerry May.

Sisk, 11-12, was tagged for two runs in the seventh and knocked out in the ninth before Juan Pizarro subdued the Braves.

Randy Hundley poled a fifth inning homer, then singled in the 12th to snap a 2-2 tie at Los Angeles.

Ernie Banks' sacrifice fly in the ninth pulled the Cubs even after the Dodgers had taken a 2-1 lead in the sixth on Willie Davis' homer and a run-scoring double by John Roseboro.

Newcombe Gains In U.S. Net Play

By WILL GRIMSLEY

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — There are two big obstacles between Australian John Newcombe and the Wimbledon-U.S. tennis double — a sore shoulder and Bob Hewitt.

Newk fears Hewitt the more.

"This shoulder thing just came up in the last couple of days—I was sitting in the clubhouse and I felt a twinge," the handsome, 23-year-old Aussie said Thursday. "Luckily, it's in my left shoulder, otherwise I might not be able to play.

"I got a rub-down and the trainer says he thinks it's just a sore tendon and will go away."

Hewitt won't. This Australian refugee who became a citizen of South Africa, is Newcombe's quarter-final opponent today in the National Tennis Championships at the West Side Tennis Club.

Newcombe seemed to be nursing his sore shoulder Thursday when he beat Ray Moore of South Africa in a fourth round match 7-9, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2. Hewitt smashed young Bobby Lutz of Los Angeles, the U.S. college champion, 11-9, 6-4, 6-4.

The United States has two men in the quarter-finals — a 100 per cent improvement over last year. Seventh-seeded Clark Graebner of Beechwood, Ohio, plays Roy Emerson, winner here in 1961 and 1964 and second-seeded. Gene Scott of New York has a date with Owen Davidson of Australia. The other match sends Ron Barnes of Brazil against the Danish giant-killer, Jan Leschly.

Scott outlasted the 29-year-old Ron Holmberg, of Highland Falls, N.Y., 4-6, 6-3, 3-6, 6-2, 6-4. Davidson won a thriller from the 1963 champion, Rafael Osuna of Mexico, 8-6, 8-6, 0-6, 4-6, 6-2.

America's tennis darling, Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., takes the center court today in a quarter-final match against Annette Van Zyl of South Africa. The bespectacled American girl is bidding to become the first American since Althea Gibson in 1958 to win both the Wimbledon and U.S. titles in a single year.

Mrs. Ann Haydon Jones, the 28-year-old British Wightman Cupper, and Australia's Lesley Turner advanced to the women's semifinals Thursday.

Mrs. Jones beat Peaches Bartkowicz of Hamtramck, Mich., the national junior champion, in a baseline slugfest 7-5, 2-6, 6-1. Miss Turner crushed Rita Bentley of Britain, 6-1, 6-2.

Boo-Bird Target Allen Mopes On Sidelines

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The boo birds of Connie Mack Stadium have been stilled. So has the bat of the object of their "affection."

Rich Allen, the National League's All-Star third baseman, sits in the press box, his right arm encased in a cast from his fingers to his elbow. He leans on the good elbow and eats his heart out as he watches his Philadelphia Phillies' teammates in action below.

"I'd rather not be interviewed, he told a reporter. "Please understand. Everybody is asking the same questions. I don't want to talk until this thing comes off."

He pointed to the cast on his hand, at the same time looking down on the field.

"I may never play again," said the 25-year-old Allen. He was hitting .307, with 142 hits, 31 doubles, 10 triples, 23 home runs and 77 RBI before he accidentally stuck his hand through a car headlight while trying to push the stalled vehicle.

Despite his great hitting, the home fans booed him everytime he came to bat. Visiting players, managers and observers shook their heads in wonderment.

A great career in baseball may have flickered out when that powerful hand went through that headlight of a 17-year-old Ford Allen kept just for laughs.

"The little finger and the ring finger are numb," Allen said in a low tone. He added hopefully, "but they said this takes time. They can't raally tell until the cast comes off in about five or six weeks."

Allen severed the ulnar nerve and several other arteries and bled profusely.

Why don't you and your wife take a vacation, go away for a few weeks, get away from it all, he was asked.

"I would, but I have to report at the hospital three times a week."

9 Games In Area Over Weekend

Area grid fans will have a choice of five high school football games tonight and four tomorrow afternoon.

East Liverpool hosts Cleveland East High at 7:45. Midland and Western Beaver clash at Midland, Southern Local entertains Lisbon, Crestview is at Mineral Ridge and Hopedale is at Stanton Local in other contests under the lights tonight.

Tomorrow at 1:30 South Side Beaver hosts Donora, while at 2 Beaver Local is at Columbiana, East Palestine is at Canfield and Leetonia shows at United.

Midland graduated several stars from its fine 9-1 team of a year ago, but still has some horses, notably Dave Vanlier, and should be able to handle Class B Western Beaver, which is in only its second year of varsity competition.

The Southern Local - Lisbon encounter should be an interesting one. Southern coach Beau Bell has not been pleased with the play of some of his veterans. He has only seven lettermen and may start as many as six sophomores in an effort to rebuild. Lisbon has 16 veterans, but from a team that went 1-9 last year and has won only two games since 1963. Bud Bucher returns to the helm after a two-year absence and better things are expected from the Blue Devils.

Leetonia upset United last year 27-12, but ended 3-7 to 6-4 for the Golden Eagles. Both coaches predict better things this time around. Dick Hartzell has 17 lettermen at Leetonia and Ralph Pardee 11 at United.

Crestview was 1-8 last season, but five of the losses were by a touchdown or less, including an 8-6 loss to Mineral Ridge. The Ramblers were 6-0-1 last season and have gone 34-4-2 in five years under Joe Rich. Dick Scarborough says his Crestview team, with 12 of 17 lettermen back, could beat anybody on a good day, but he tabs Mineral Ridge as the likely champs of the Inter-County League.

Stanton Local, unbeaten a year ago, has only eight lettermen back and a new coach, Ken Woods. The Red Raiders trounced Hopedale 30-0 last year.

South Side Beaver has 15 lettermen from a 2-7-1 team of 1966. The Rams are Class B and Donora is a Class A school, so Don Charlton's club must rate as the underdog.

Columbiana topped Beaver Local 15-6 in 1966, and is reported stronger this season. The Clippers lost only one Tri-County League game and are gunning for the title this time around. Ray Bellisari has nine lettermen starters to do the job. Beaver Local, 5-4-1 a year ago, lost all but six lettermen and will press to match that mark. Coach Don Ross will build around quarterback Dennis Klembara.

East Palestine whipped Canfield 28-0 last season, but the Bulldogs have only three starters back and coach Bill Offenbacker looks on this as a rebuilding year.

Scholastic Grid Schedule

Ohio Scholastic Football Gets Underway Tonight

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The 1967 Ohio high school football season starts another colorful campaign tonight with these questions at the forefront:

1. Can Columbus Watterson retain its mythical state championship?

2. Can once-mighty Massillon, beaten five times last year, bounce back to the top?

3. Is the balance of power really shifting, as some believe, to the Central and Southern sectors, or is the North still king?

More than 700 schools start finding out the answers tonight in a grid season that runs into November. Ohio High School Athletic Association Commissioner Paul Landis estimated more than 37,000 scholastic athletes will compete in football.

And Ohio schools will shun the controversial punt rule. They'll stick with the old rule on the recommendation of the state's football Coaches Association and concurrence by the OHSAA.

Last year's Associated Press top Ten ratings listed the teams this way:

Columbus Watterson, Niles, Sandusky, Steubenville, Hamilton Garfield, Upper Arlington, Columbus Eastmoor, Akron Hoban, Louisville and East Liverpool.

The combined won-loss record for those 10 clubs was 94-4 and all are reported strong again with the exception of Upper Arlington, which is in a rebuilding year.

Watterson, with new coach Ron Shay at the helm, has enough holdover material to make a run at a second straight title. Eight regulars from the town platoons that carried the Eagles to the throne return, including John Motil, a cunning quarterback.

Potent Sandusky, with all-Ohio Ed Williams at halfback, looks menacing again. The Streaks are unbeaten in 51 of their last 52 and have a 23-game win streak alive.

Fred Conti takes over at Niles and has only five lettermen back from the undefeated 1966 squad. But the Red Dragons junior varsity and sophomore teams went unbeaten and are expected to help keep Niles at the top.

All-Ohio halfback Mike Palmer is gone but Abe Bryan should have another powerhouse at Steubenville, surprised only by Massillon a year ago. There's enough talent on hand to make the Big Red tough.

Hamilton Garfield, Columbus Eastmoor, Akron Hoban, Louisville and East Liverpool reportedly are strong again.

But there are others, too. Toledo St. Francis looks rugged enough to take a third straight Toledo City League crown and Akron East will be shooting for its fourth straight city series title.

In the Queen City area, Cin- and Elder all appear formidable. In the Northeast, Warren Harding has a bevy of veterans back and two Canton Schools, Lincoln and McKinley, could crack the Top Ten. The latter pair collide Sept. 29.

Napoleon is favored to cop its 16th Northwest Ohio Athletic League title while Lorain Senior also is highly touted.

In the Cleveland area, Cleveland Latin with a strong backfield and solid line, is a threat to unseat city champion Benedictine. In the Southwest, Dayton Chaminade and Kettering Fairmont West are teams to watch.

What about Massillon? Word is that coach Bob Sherman will have the Tigers playing winning football again. Seaman has many holes to patch but has a good nucleus to work with plus that frenzied home support.

In Class A, coach Max Ross figures his Marion Catholic team could be stronger than last year's championship crew. The Fighting Irish carry a 27-game winning streak into the 1967 campaign.

Runnerup Millersport, which has won 39 of its last 40, has 17 lettermen back to make life miserable for other Central Ohio schools.

Twins, Red Sox Win, Gain On Idle White Sox, Tigers

Oliva Sparkplug In Twins' Rally

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Lonborg, down about 20 pounds from his normal weight, says he's a little tired. The New York Yankees, down about 20 games from their normal position, are not impressed.

Lonberg, the ace Boston righthander, threw his second three-hitter against the Yankees in nine days Thursday night, leading the Red Sox to a 3-1 victory. Minnesota, which beat Baltimore 4-2, remained in first place in the American League, one percentage point over Boston.

The victories shattered the virtual four-way tie as Detroit and Chicago, idle Thursday, fell half a game off the pace.

Lonborg's victory over the Yankees, now mired in ninth place 17½ games off the pace at a time when they're usually running away with the flag, was all but a carbon copy of the one in New York on Aug. 29.

In both cases, the score was 3-1. In both cases, Lonborg gave up only three hits. In both cases, a home run by Tom Tresh spoiled the shutout.

"I think I'm a little tired," Lonborg said when his 19th victory was in the books. "It's been a long season for me. I started out weighing 215 and I'm down to about 195. But don't get me wrong. I'm not so tired that I can't contribute my share down the stretch."

Rico Petrocelli provided the power for the Red Sox, driving in two runs with his 14th homer and a double. Lonborg himself provided the other one with a ground-rule double.

The Twins hung onto their precarious lead with two runs in the eighth inning. Tony Oliva delivered a double that cracked a 2-2 tie and Bob Allison's single sent Oliva in. Dean Chance won his 18th game, stopping the Orioles on four hits.

BACKSTOP. Red Sox pitcher Jim Lonborg collides with umpire Emmett Ashford as Lonborg overslides second base on a steal attempt in the seventh inning of last night's game in Boston. Ashford ruled Lonborg safe as Yankee shortstop Ruben Amaro protested the decision. Lonborg and Red Sox won 3-1. (UPI Telephoto)

9 Games In Area Over Weekend

Area grid fans will have a choice of five high school football games tonight and four tomorrow afternoon.

East Liverpool hosts Cleveland East High at 7:45. Midland and Western Beaver clash at Midland, Southern Local entertains Lisbon, Crestview is at Mineral Ridge and Hopedale is at Stanton Local in other contests under the lights tonight.

Tomorrow at 1:30 South Side Beaver hosts Donora, while at 2 Beaver Local is at Columbiana, East Palestine is at Canfield and Leetonia shows at United.

Midland graduated several stars from its fine 9-1 team of a year ago, but still has some horses, notably Dave Vanlier, and should be able to handle Class B Western Beaver, which is in only its second year of varsity competition.

The Southern Local - Lisbon encounter should be an interesting one. Southern coach Beau Bell has not been pleased with the play of some of his veterans. He has only seven lettermen and may start as many as six sophomores in an effort to rebuild. Lisbon has 16 veterans, but from a team that went 1-9 last year and has won only two games since 1963. Bud Bucher returns to the helm after a two-year absence and better things are expected from the Blue Devils.

Leetonia upset United last year 27-12, but ended 3-7 to 6-4 for the Golden Eagles. Both coaches predict better things this time around. Dick Hartzell has 17 lettermen at Leetonia and Ralph Pardee 11 at United.

Crestview was 1-8 last season, but five of the losses were by a touchdown or less, including an 8-6 loss to Mineral Ridge. The Ramblers were 6-0-1 last season and have gone 34-4-2 in five years under Joe Rich. Dick Scarborough says his Crestview team, with 12 of 17 lettermen back, could beat anybody on a good day, but he tabs Mineral Ridge as the likely champs of the Inter-County League.

Stanton Local, unbeaten a year ago, has only eight lettermen back and a new coach, Ken Woods. The Red Raiders trounced Hopedale 30-0 last year.

South Side Beaver has 15 lettermen from a 2-7-1 team of 1966. The Rams are Class B and Donora is a Class A school, so Don Charlton's club must rate as the underdog.

Columbiana topped Beaver Local 15-6 in 1966, and is reported stronger this season. The Clippers lost only one Tri-County League game and are gunning for the title this time around. Ray Bellisari has nine lettermen starters to do the job. Beaver Local, 5-4-1 a year ago, lost all but six lettermen and will press to match that mark. Coach Don Ross will build around quarterback Dennis Klembara.

East Palestine whipped Canfield 28-0 last season, but the Bulldogs have only three starters back and coach Bill Offenbacker looks on this as a rebuilding year.

Scholastic Grid Schedule

Friday

Cleveland East at East Liverpool
Western Beaver at Midland
Lisbon at Southern Local
Crestview at Mineral Ridge
Hopedale at Stanton Local
Cleveland Lincoln at Salem

Saturday

Beaver Local at Columbiana, 2 p.m.
Leetonia at United
East Palestine at Canfield
Donora at South Side Beaver, 1:30 p.m.

Ohio Scholastic Football Gets Underway Tonight

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The 1967 Ohio high school football season starts another colorful campaign tonight with these questions at the forefront:

1. Can Columbus Watterson retain its mythical state championship?

2. Can once-mighty Massillon, beaten five times last year, bounce back to the top?

3. Is the balance of power really shifting, as some believe, to the Central and Southern sectors, or is the North still king?

More than 700 schools start finding out the answers tonight in a grid season that runs into November. Ohio High School Athletic Association Commissioner Paul Landis estimated more than 37,000 scholastic athletes will compete in football.

And Ohio schools will shun the controversial punt rule. They'll stick with the old rule on the recommendation of the state's football Coaches Association and concurrence by the OHSAA.

Last year's Associated Press top Ten ratings listed the teams this way:

Columbus Watterson, Niles, Sandusky, Steubenville, Hamilton Garfield, Upper Arlington, Columbus Eastmoor, Akron Hoban, Louisville and East Liverpool.

The combined won-loss record for those 10 clubs was 94-4 and all are reported strong again with the exception of Upper Arlington, which is in a rebuilding year.

Watterson, with new coach Ron Shay at the helm, has enough holdover material to make a run at a second straight title. Eight regulars from the town platoons that carried the Eagles to the throne return, including John Motil, a cunning quarterback.

Potent Sandusky, with all-Ohio Ed Williams at halfback, looks menacing again. The Streaks are unbeaten in 51 of their last 52 and have a 23-game win streak alive.

Fred Conti takes over at Niles and has only five lettermen back from the undefeated 1966 squad. But the Red Dragons junior varsity and sophomore teams went unbeaten and are expected to help keep Niles at the top.

All-Ohio halfback Mike Palmer is gone but Abe Bryan should have another powerhouse at Steubenville, surprised only by Massillon a year ago. There's enough talent on hand to make the Big Red tough.

Hamilton Garfield, Columbus Eastmoor, Akron Hoban, Louisville and East Liverpool reportedly are strong again.

But there are others, too. Toledo St. Francis looks rugged enough to take a third straight Toledo City League crown and Akron East will be shooting for its fourth straight city series title.

In the Queen City area, Cin-and Elder all appear formidable. In the Northeast, Warren Harding has a bevy of veterans back and two Canton Schools, Lincoln and McKinley, could crack the Top Ten. The latter pair collide Sept. 29.

Napoleon is favored to cop its 16th Northwest Ohio Athletic League title while Lorain Senior also is highly touted.

In the Cleveland area, Cleveland Latin with a strong backfield and solid line, is a threat to unseat city champion Benedictine. In the Southwest, Dayton Chaminade and Kettering Fairmont West are teams to watch.

What about Massillon? Word is that coach Bob Sherman will have the Tigers playing winning football again. Seaman has many holes to patch but has a good nucleus to work with plus that frenzied home support.

In Class A, coach Max Ross figures his Marion Catholic team could be stronger than last year's championship crew. The Fighting Irish carry a 27-game winning streak into the 1967 campaign.

Runnerup Millersport, which has won 39 of its last 40, has 17 lettermen back to make life miserable for other Central Ohio schools.

Pirates Win Behind Sisk

Newlywed Chris Short Beaten By Cincinnati

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The day was perfect for newlywed Chris Short until the Cincinnati Reds crashed his wedding reception.

Short, Philadelphia's 29-year-old southpaw ace, took a bride Thursday afternoon, then pitched five perfect innings against Cincinnati Thursday night.

But Leo Cardenas' leadoff single in the sixth ended the hitless string, Tommy Harper poked another single, Tommy Helms walked and Lee May smacked a bases-loaded triple, ruining Short's evening and giving the Reds a 3-1 victory over the Phillies.

In other National League games, St. Louis clubbed the New York Mets 9-2 behind Bob Gibson, San Francisco nipped Houston 3-2 in 15 innings, Pittsburgh downed Atlanta 4-2 and the Chicago Cubs squeezed past Los Angeles 3-2 in 12 innings.

Short married Marsha Hickling of Largo, Fla., in Valley Forge, Pa., after a dizzy whirl of wedding preparations that began Wednesday when the Phillies stepped off a plane from Atlanta.

The couple, who met at the Phillies' Clearwater, Fla., spring training base last spring, obtained a marriage license one minute before the license bureau closed Wednesday.

May's triple gave Milt Pappas a 3-0 lead and the Cincinnati right-hander went on to post his 15th victory with ninth-inning help from Ted Abernathy.

Gibson, pitching for the first time since July 15, when a wine drive by Roberto Clemente cracked a bone in his right leg, worked five innings and was credited with his 11th victory.

The Cards' ace was tagged for eight hits before turning over an 8-1 lead to reliever Larry Jaster, but said afterward the leg hadn't bothered him.

Dal Maxvill paced the Cards' 16-hit attack with three singles and a double while Roger Maris and Julian Javier connected for homers.

Bob Schroder singled with two out in the 15th inning at San Francisco, took second when Ken Henderson was nicked by a pitch and scored the winning run on Jesus Alou's single. The lose was Houston's eighth in a row. The Giants have won six straight.

Jim Hart's infield hit in the ninth knocked in the tying run for the Giants, climaxing a two-run rally.

The Pirates forged a 4-0 lead on run-scoring singles by pitcher Tommie Sisk and Maury Wills in the fourth inning and a two-run fifth keyed by doubles by Clemente and Jerry May.

Sisk, 11-12, was tagged for two runs in the seventh and knocked out in the ninth before Juan Pizarro subdued the Braves.

Randy Hundley poled a fifth inning homer, then singled in the 12th to snap a 2-2 tie at Los Angeles.

Ernie Banks' sacrifice fly in the ninth pulled the Cubs even after the Dodgers had taken a 2-1 lead in the sixth on Willie Davis' homer and a run-scoring double by John Roseboro.

Newcombe Gains In U.S. Net Play

By WILL GRIMSLEY

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — There are two big obstacles between Australian John Newcombe and the Wimbledon-U.S. tennis double — a sore shoulder and Bob Hewitt.

Newk fears Hewitt the more.

"This shoulder thing just came up in the last couple of days—I was sitting in the clubhouse and I felt a twinge," the handsome, 23-year-old Aussie said Thursday. "Luckily, it's in my left shoulder, otherwise I might not be able to play.

"I got a rub-down and the trainer says he thinks it's just a sore tendon and will go away."

Hewitt won't. This Australian refugee who became a citizen of South Africa, is Newcombe's quarter-final opponent today in the National Tennis Championships at the West Side Tennis Club.

Newcombe seemed to be nursing his sore shoulder Thursday when he beat Ray Moore of South Africa in a fourth round match 7-9, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2. Hewitt smashed young Bobby Lutz of Los Angeles, the U.S. college champion, 11-9, 6-4, 6-4.

The United States has two men in the quarter-finals — a 100 per cent improvement over last year. Seventh-seeded Clark Graebner of Beechwood, Ohio, plays Roy Emerson, winner here in 1961 and 1964 and second-seeded. Gene Scott of New York has a date with Owen Davidson of Australia. The other match sends Ron Barnes of Brazil against the Danish giant-killer, Jan Leschly.

Scott outlasted the 29-year-old Ron Holmberg, of Highland Falls, N.Y., 4-6, 6-3, 3-6, 6-2, 6-4. Davidson won a thriller from the 1963 champion, Rafael Osuna of Mexico, 8-6, 8-6, 0-6, 4-6, 6-2.

America's tennis darling, Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., takes the center court today in a quarter-final match against Annette Van Zyl of South Africa. The bespectacled American girl is bidding to become the first American since Althea Gibson in 1958 to win both the Wimbledon and U.S. titles in a single year.

Mrs. Ann Haydon Jones, the 28-year-old British Wightman Cupper, and Australia's Lesley Turner advanced to the women's semifinals Thursday.

Mrs. Jones beat Peaches Bartkowicz of Hamtramck, Mich., the national junior champion, in a baseline slugfest 7-5, 2-6, 6-1. Miss Turner crushed Rita Bentley of Britain, 6-1, 6-2.

Boo-Bird Target Allen Mopes On Sidelines

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The boo birds of Connie Mack Stadium have been stilled. So has the bat of the object of their "affection."

Rich Allen, the National League's All-Star third baseman, sits in the press box, his right arm encased in a cast from his fingers to his elbow. He leans on the good elbow and eats his heart out as he watches his Philadelphia Phillies' teammates in action below.

"I'd rather not be interviewed, he told a reporter. "Please understand. Everybody is asking the same questions. I don't want to talk until this thing comes off."

He pointed to the cast on his hand, at the same time looking down on the field.

"I may never play again," said the 25-year-old Allen. He was hitting .307, with 142 hits, 31 doubles, 10 triples, 23 home runs and 77 RBI before he accidentally stuck his hand through a car headlight while trying to push the stalled vehicle.

Despite his great hitting, the home fans booed him everytime he came to bat. Visiting players, managers and observers shook their heads in wonderment.

A great career in baseball may have flickered out when that powerful hand went through that headlight of a 17-year-old Ford Allen kept just for laughs.

"The little finger and the ring finger are numb," Allen said in a low tone. He added hopefully, "but they said this takes time. They can't really tell until the cast comes off in about five or six weeks."

Allen severed the ulnar nerve and several other arteries and bled profusely.

Why don't you and your wife take a vacation, go away for a few weeks, get away from it all, he was asked.

"I would, but I have to report at the hospital three times a week."

The Western Carolinas League claims the title of the most compact minor league. Longest trip in the six - team circuit is 150 miles.

NFL In Final Exhibitions

AFL Has Full Schedule

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The American Football League presents its first full schedule of regular season play this weekend while Detroit is at St. Louis tonight in the start of the National Football League's final series of exhibitions.

The AFL opened its regular season a week ago, Denver taking Boston 26-21 in the only game, but has its first full, four-game schedule starting Saturday.

Defending champion Kansas City is at Houston and Boston is at San Diego, both at night, Saturday. New York is at Buffalo and Denver is at Oakland in day games Sunday.

The NFL offers eight games, six of them Saturday night, with single games Friday and Sunday in the close of exhibitions that is certain to push preseason attendance past the two-million mark. The NFL opens regular season play the following weekend.

Saturday's schedule has Atlanta (2-1-1) at New Orleans (4-1-1); Baltimore (3-1-1) at Dallas (2-2); Chicago (1-3) vs. Philadelphia (4-1) at Memphis, Tenn.; New York (1-2-1) at Green Bay (5-0); Pittsburgh (2-1) vs. Washington (3-1) at Norfolk, Va., and San Francisco (2-2) at Los Angeles (5-0).

The Chiefs, odds-on to repeat as AFL champs, have virtually the same team back that dominated the league last year. The major change has defensive halfback Fletcher Smith replacing injured Fred Williamson.

Len Dawson, who sat out the final exhibition game, will start at quarterback for the Chiefs, who beat Houston 24-9 in an exhibition match. Jacky Lee will go for Houston.

Buffalo has settled on trade acquisition Tom Flores as its No. 1 quarterback over Jack Kemp. The Bills' nationally televised game with New York is the first of a four-game home stand. Buffalo beat New York 31-23 in a preseason game less than two weeks ago.

In two major trades Thursday, the Miami Dolphins sent rookie quarterback Jon Brittenum to San Diego for a draft choice, while the Los Angeles Rams acquired defensive tackle Roger Brown from Detroit for three draft choices. The Rams needed Brown as a fillin for injured Roosevelt Grier.

Nicklaus Practicing For Golf World Series

By JOE MOOSHIL

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Jack Nicklaus' gigantic shadow will grace the Firestone Country Club today in the unofficial practice round for the 36-hole World Series of Golf beginning Saturday.

Nicklaus, who has made the tournament his personal jackpot, was not around earlier in the week while his three rivals were exploring the 7,180-yard layout with a demanding par of 35-35—70.

Nicklaus, the U.S. Open champion; Roberto de Vicenzo, winner of the British Open; Masters champion Gay Brewer, and PGA titlist Don January will be shooting for a top prize of $50,000 in a showdown of champions.

Second place is worth $15,000, third $7,500 and fourth $5,000.

The World Series, a new experience for De Vicenzo, Brewer and January, is old hat to Nicklaus. Jack won the first World Series in 1962 and repeated in 1963.

In four World Series appearances, the Buckeye belter from Columbus, Ohio, has cearned $126,000. Currently Nicklaus is the leading money winner on the golf tour with $156,000.

However, a victory this weekend will not add to his official money-winning total because the series, although sanctioned by the PGA, does not qualify as an official event.

The Series winds up Sunday and in case of a tie there will be a sudden-death playoff. The last five holes on Saturday and Sunday will be televised nationally by NBC.

Ford And Hardison WVU's Co-Captains

ROGER BROWN

Lions Deal Brown To LA's Rams

DETROIT (AP) — Roger Brown may be gone, but his parting shot is likely to make him remembered—at least among his ex-teammates, the Detroit Lions.

"I hope I'm around long enough to hurt the Lions," said Brown.

That, he told newsmen, was how he broke the news to his wife that he had been traded Thursday.

The Rams return three future draft choices—No. 1 choice in 1967 and two "exceptionally high" choices in 1968, the Lions said.

Schmidt, Lions' new head coach, explained the trade by saying, "we are looking to the future and feel our younger players are adequate."

The younger men, who will be looked on to fill the gap made by the trade, are Jerry Rush, a third year player, and Denis Moore, a rookie from Southern California.

Los Angeles picked Brown to replace Roosevelt Grier, the 287-pounder who suffered a torn right achilles tendon last Friday in the Ram victory over Kansas City.

Grier is out of action indefinitely, although he says he expects the cast on his foot to come off in four weeks.

Rochester Beats Jets, Playoffs 1-1

By The Associated Press

The hitting of Jim Beauchamp and Steve Demeter and the pitching of Julio Navarro and Tom Arruda have boosted the Richmond Braves and the Rochester Red Wings closer to another meeting in the International League's Governor's Cup Playoff final series.

Beauchamp hit two home runs, one a grandslammer, and Navarro pitched a five - hitter as the regular season champion Braves routed the Toledo Mud Hens 10-1 Thursday night for a 2-0 led in their best-of-5 semi-final series.

Demeter drove in all three runs to back up Arruda's brilliant one - hitter as the Red Wings turned back the Columbus Jets 3-0 and evened their best-of-5 series at a victory apiece.

'Spider' Switched To Safety

FAIRFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Carl Lockhart, New York Giants safetyman, likes to be where the action is, but his coach has a different idea.

Lockhart, nicknamed "The Spider" because of his gangly build — he is 6-foot-1 and 175 pounds — is an aggressive, knock-em-down type player.

Last season, his second in the National Football League, he was named to the East squad for the annual All-Pro game as a defensive cornerback.

When preseason training started this year, however, he was switched to defensive safety.

"I like the new spot much better," Lockhart said, "But I miss the hitting and tackling. Not that I still won't get some in, just not as much.

"My coach (Emlen Tunnell, defensive backfield coach) says I'm still too aggressive. I've got to stay relaxed and stay back."

At Lockhart's old position, he could slow up his man (usully a split end or flanker) by hitting him, then slip off and go after the ball carrier. If it was a pass play, the safetyman could pick up Lockhart's man.

"But now," Lockhart sid, "I'm the guy who has to do the helping out. So for the time being, I have to take it easy and go with the basic defense. No gambling for interceptions.

The graduate of North Texas State intercepted four passes in his rookie season and upped his output to six last year.

WVU Eleven Lifts Curtain On Saturday

West Virginia's Mountaineers are, in the words of coach Jim Carlen, "as ready as we'll ever be" for Saturday's football opener.

The Mountaineers, favored to annex the Southern Conference championship, begin their 1967 campaign at home against Villanova's Wildcats in a game that counts in the conference standings.

Crennel is a sophomore from Lynchburg, Va., called by Carlen "one of the finest sophomore linebackers I've ever seen." He will play middle guard in one defensive alignment, middle linebacker in the other.

Expanded Loop Being Eyed For Girls' Softball

With the present season just concluded, plans already have been launched for 1968 by the Hookstown All-Girl softball team.

Manager Eddie Boyd said it is hoped to organize a league with six or more squads. Those interested are to contact him or Dwain Douglas of Hookstown, newly-named coach.

New gloves and sweatshirts have been purchased for next year, Boyd said.

Of the 21 girls on the team, six were holdovers from previous years: Bettie Chaney, Cindy Moore, Patty Moore, Susan Moore, Susan Goodlin and Sandy Rardon.

The team originally was sponsored by the Auxiliary of the South Side Athletic Club, with Mrs. June Moore manager. The organization, launched in May 1963, started with four teams of girls, ages 10 through 15 from Frankfort Springs, Shippingport, Lawrenceville and Hookstown. The age limit later was broadened to include ages 10-19.

Cousy, Gamblers Linked, Any Wrongdoing Denied

By DAVE O'HARA

BOSTON (AP) — Bob Cousy, former All-America whiz and one of pro basketball's all-time great players, was reported under sedation today after admitting a close friendship with an alleged gambler, but denying any wrong-doing.

A reliable source said Cousy, now coach at Boston College, was given sedatives at his Worcester home by a doctor less than two hours after he struggled through a tear-filled news conference Thursday at the BC alumni hall.

"I suppose I'm guilty of indiscretion," Cousy admitted between sobs at the 70-minute meeting with both sports and news reporters.

"But I'm not guilty of anything else," he added. "If you're guilty of something, or have something to hide, you're evasive. And I don't sneak around."

Disregarding advice of friends to merely issue a statement, Cousy elected to face probing questions in his reply to a Life magazine article linking Boston athletes with gamblers.

He said the article reported he was friendly with Andrew Pradella and Francesco Scibelli, both of Springfield, Mass., and identified by the magazine as associated with gambling.

Cousy denied any close relationship with Scibelli, but said he and Pradella had been close friends for many years. He said the friendship developed while Pradella's sons attended Cousy's summer basketball camp from 1954 to 1964.

Cousy said Edward McNamara, now Boston police commissioner, told him "about four years ago" that an investigation of gambling in Massachusetts was under way. He quoted McNamara as saying Pradella was involved in the investigations.

"What do you do when someone comes up and tells you a good friend has become a gambler, or is a gambler?" Cousy asked.

NFL In Final Exhibitions

AFL Has Full Schedule

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The American Football League presents its first full schedule of regular season play this weekend while Detroit is at St. Louis tonight in the start of the National Football League's final series of exhibitions.

The AFL opened its regular season a week ago, Denver taking Boston 26-21 in the only game, but has its first full, four-game schedule starting Saturday.

Defending champion Kansas City is at Houston and Boston is at San Diego, both at night, Saturday. New York is at Buffalo and Denver is at Oakland in day games Sunday.

The NFL offers eight games, six of them Saturday night, with single games Friday and Sunday in the close of exhibitions that is certain to push preseason attendance past the two-million mark. The NFL opens regular season play the following weekend.

Saturday's schedule has Atlanta (2-1-1) at New Orleans (4-1-1); Baltimore (3-1-1) at Dallas (2-2); Chicago (1-3) vs. Philadelphia (4-1) at Memphis, Tenn.; New York (1-2-1) at Green Bay (5-0); Pittsburgh (2-1) vs. Washington (3-1) at Norfolk, Va., and San Francisco (2-2) at Los Angeles (5-0).

The Chiefs, odds-on to repeat as AFL champs, have virtually the same team back that dominated the league last year. The major change has defensive halfback Fletcher Smith replacing injured Fred Williamson.

Len Dawson, who sat out the final exhibition game, will start at quarterback for the Chiefs, who beat Houston 24-9 in an exhibition match. Jacky Lee will go for Houston.

Buffalo has settled on trade acquisition Tom Flores as its No. 1 quarterback over Jack Kemp. The Bills' nationally televised game with New York is the first of a four-game home stand. Buffalo beat New York 31-23 in a preseason game less than two weeks ago.

In two major trades Thursday, the Miami Dolphins sent rookie quarterback Jon Brittenum to San Diego for a draft choice, while the Los Angeles Rams acquired defensive tackle Roger Brown from Detroit for three draft choices. The Rams needed Brown as a fillin for injured Roosevelt Grier.

Nicklaus Practicing For Golf World Series

By JOE MOOSHIL

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Jack Nicklaus' gigantic shadow will grace the Firestone Country Club today in the unofficial practice round for the 36-hole World Series of Golf beginning Saturday.

Nicklaus, who has made the tournament his personal jackpot, was not around earlier in the week while his three rivals were exploring the 7,180-yard layout with a demanding par of 35-35—70.

Nicklaus, the U.S. Open champion; Roberto de Vicenzo, winner of the British Open; Masters champion Gay Brewer, and PGA titlist Don January will be shooting for a top prize of $50,000 in a showdown of champions.

Second place is worth $15,000, third $7,500 and fourth $5,000.

The World Series, a new experience for De Vicenzo, Brewer and January, is old hat to Nicklaus. Jack won the first World Series in 1962 and repeated in 1963.

In four World Series appearances, the Buckeye belter from Columbus, Ohio, has cearned $126,000. Currently Nicklaus is the leading money winner on the golf tour with $156,000.

However, a victory this weekend will not add to his official money-winning total because the series, although sanctioned by the PGA, does not qualify as an official event.

The Series winds up Sunday and in case of a tie there will be a sudden-death playoff. The last five holes on Saturday and Sunday will be televised nationally by NBC.

ROGER BROWN

Lions Deal Brown To LA's Rams

DETROIT (AP) — Roger Brown may be gone, but his parting shot is likely to make him remembered—at least among his ex-teammates, the Detroit Lions.

"I hope I'm around long enough to hurt the Lions," said Brown.

That, he told newsmen, was how he broke the news to his wife that he had been traded Thursday.

The Rams return three future draft choices—No. 1 choice in 1967 and two "exceptionally high" choices in 1968, the Lions said.

Schmidt, Lions' new head coach, explained the trade by saying, "we are looking to the future and feel our younger players are adequate."

The younger men, who will be looked on to fill the gap made by the trade, are Jerry Rush, a third year player, and Denis Moore, a rookie from Southern California.

Los Angeles picked Brown to replace Roosevelt Grier, the 287-pounder who suffered a torn right achilles tendon last Friday in the Ram victory over Kansas City.

Grier is out of action indefinitely, although he says he expects the cast on his foot to come off in four weeks.

Rochester Beats Jets, Playoffs 1-1

By The Associated Press

The hitting of Jim Beauchamp and Steve Demeter and the pitching of Julio Navarro and Tom Arruda have boosted the Richmond Braves and the Rochester Red Wings closer to another meeting in the International League's Governor's Cup Playoff final series.

Beauchamp hit two home runs, one a grandslammer, and Navarro pitched a five - hitter as the regular season champion Braves routed the Toledo Mud Hens 10-1 Thursday night for a 2-0 led in their best-of-5 semi-final series.

Demeter drove in all three runs to back up Arruda's brilliant one - hitter as the Red Wings turned back the Columbus Jets 3-0 and evened their best-of-5 series at a victory apiece.

'Spider' Switched To Safety

FAIRFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Carl Lockhart, New York Giants safetyman, likes to be where the action is, but his coach has a different idea.

Lockhart, nicknamed "The Spider" because of his gangly build — he is 6-foot-1 and 175 pounds — is an aggressive, knock-em-down type player.

Last season, his second in the National Football League, he was named to the East squad for the annual All-Pro game as a defensive cornerback.

When preseason training started this year, however, he was switched to defensive safety.

"I like the new spot much better," Lockhart said, "But I miss the hitting and tackling. Not that I still won't get some in, just not as much.

"My coach (Emlen Tunnell, defensive backfield coach) says I'm still too aggressive. I've got to stay relaxed and stay back."

At Lockhart's old position, he could slow up his man (usully a split end or flanker) by hitting him, then slip off and go after the ball carrier. If it was a pass play, the safetyman could pick up Lockhart's man.

"But now," Lockhart sid, "I'm the guy who has to do the helping out. So for the time being, I have to take it easy and go with the basic defense. No gambling for interceptions.

The graduate of North Texas State intercepted four passes in his rookie season and upped his output to six last year.

WVU Eleven Lifts Curtain On Saturday

West Virginia's Mountaineers are, in the words of coach Jim Carlen, "as ready as we'll ever be" for Saturday's football opener.

The Mountaineers, favored to annex the Southern Conference championship, begin their 1967 campaign at home against Villanova's Wildcats in a game that counts in the conference standings.

Crennel is a sophomore from Lynchburg, Va., called by Carlen "one of the finest sophomore linebackers I've ever seen." He will play middle guard in one defensive alignment, middle linebacker in the other.

Expanded Loop Being Eyed For Girls' Softball

With the present season just concluded, plans already have been launched for 1968 by the Hookstown All-Girl softball team.

Manager Eddie Boyd said it is hoped to organize a league with six or more squads. Those interested are to contact him or Dwain Douglas of Hookstown, newly-named coach.

New gloves and sweatshirts have been purchased for next year, Boyd said.

Of the 21 girls on the team, six were holdovers from previous years: Bettie Chaney, Cindy Moore, Patty Moore, Susan Moore, Susan Goodlin and Sandy Rardon.

The team originally was sponsored by the Auxiliary of the South Side Athletic Club, with Mrs. June Moore manager. The organization, launched in May 1963, started with four teams of girls, ages 10 through 15 from Frankfort Springs, Shippingport, Lawrenceville and Hookstown. The age limit later was broadened to include ages 10-19.

Cousy, Gamblers Linked, Any Wrongdoing Denied

By DAVE O'HARA

BOSTON (AP) — Bob Cousy, former All-America whiz and one of pro basketball's all-time great players, was reported under sedation today after admitting a close friendship with an alleged gambler, but denying any wrong-doing.

A reliable source said Cousy, now coach at Boston College, was given sedatives at his Worcester home by a doctor less than two hours after he struggled through a tear-filled news conference Thursday at the BC alumni hall.

"I suppose I'm guilty of indiscretion," Cousy admitted between sobs at the 70-minute meeting with both sports and news reporters.

"But I'm not guilty of anything else," he added. "If you're guilty of something, or have something to hide, you're evasive. And I don't sneak around."

Disregarding advice of friends to merely issue a statement, Cousy elected to face probing questions in his reply to a Life magazine article linking Boston athletes with gamblers.

He said the article reported he was friendly with Andrew Pradella and Francesco Scibelli, both of Springfield, Mass., and identified by the magazine as associated with gambling.

Cousy denied any close relationship with Scibelli, but said he and Pradella had been close friends for many years. He said the friendship developed while Fradella's sons attended Cousy's summer basketball camp from 1954 to 1964.

Cousy said Edward McNamara, now Boston police commissioner, told him "about four years ago" that an investigation of gambling in Massachusetts was under way. He quoted McNamara as saying Pradella was involved in the investigations.

"What do you do when someone comes up and tells you a good friend has become a gambler, or is a gambler?" Cousy asked.

Misses Them Very Much

Cancer Institute's Chief Glad He's Off Cigarettes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The director of the National Cancer Institute has been off cigarettes for 23 days. And he admits woefully, "I miss them very much."

But Dr. Kenneth M. Endicott adds: "I'm really glad that I stopped."

After smoking for 30 years—slightly more than a pack a day at the end—the cancer expert finally quit because "I was simply in an impossible position." Endicott was getting it from all sides.

At national symposiums and conferences on smoking and health, "people were just astonished that I smoked." Many got a big charge out of it.

Nor was the assistant surgeon general free from harassment at home.

His teen-age son and daughter, neither of whom smoke, "were carrying on a propaganda campaign" to get him to quit.

For smokers who go through less than half a pack a day, Endicott says, the health risks aren't much different than for nonsmokers.

Dr. Endicott had wanted to quit for years—and did three times before. But each time he took up pipe or cigars and soon was back to cigarettes. "I decided the best way for me to quit was to stop entirely," he explained in an interview.

It was seven years ago, when he became head of the Cancer Institute, that Endicott "really began to get sensitive" about his smoking.

Then, of course, there was the 1964 report by his boss, the surgeon general, that there is a link between smoking and lung cancer. That wasn't news to Endicott. He and his staff had known of the findings cited in the report for some time.

Recently, Endicott was confronted with another persuasive reason to quit: he developed a rough smoker's cough. At 51, he thought, "time may be running out on me."

He quit Aug. 16, the day before he announced at a news conference the formation of a 10-member lung cancer task force—and that he was head of it.

Club Hears Talk By Pastor's Wife

Wife of the pastor of the Lisbon and Elkton Methodist churches, Mrs. Shiltz said her interest in weeds began when she picked her first bouquet as a child. She collected the display shown yesterday during a two-hour field trip between Lisbon and Route 7 at Williamsport.

Mrs. Shiltz said the United States annually imports from 25 to 50 tons of dried burdock roots (lappa) for use in blood medicine. The U.S. also imports 50 tons of dandelion roots — "the same kind you work so hard to get rid of"—for use in medicine, she said.

Dr. Raymond Weaver, program chairman for September, introduced Mrs. Shiltz. Dan Myers, president, presided.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: You keep telling wives to "forgive and forget" and then you always add, "If you are wise you never will throw it up to him. Never mention it again."

I know this is wonderful advice, but I just can't keep my big mouth shut.

My husband became involved with a very good-looking woman at work. He said he became fascinated with her and lost his head.

This woman is a beautiful Chinese, a devout Catholic, and married to a Mexican who won't work. They have five children. He admitted everything (after I caught them) and promised it would never happen again.

Well, things were perfect for two days and then me and my big mouth — I ruined everything. I made an uncalled-for remark about his carrying the "ecumenical spirit too far."

He started to move out but I begged him to stay. I promised never to bring up the subject again. That was yesterday. So far, so good, but I live in fear that I will lose my temper again and spoil everything.

Why can't I be like those women who keep their mouths shut and live happily ever after? Please tell me the secret. — TALK TOO MUCH.

Dear Talk: There is no secret. It's one of the best-known principles of successful human relations. If all of us said everything that came to our minds, no two people in the world would be speaking.

When you feel yourself getting hostile, walk out of the room and do something that requires physical energy. Scrub a floor. Wash a wall. Beat a rug.

Tell The Teacher

Dear Ann: I read the letter from the girl who said she had problems and no one to talk to. She also said she hoped you wouldn't suggest her favorite teacher because she had gone to her so many times that she didn't want to bother her any more.

I also had problems. Things were going very badly at home. I couldn't get along with my parents and I felt like an outsider. My attitude toward life was sour and pessimistic.

One of my teachers noticed that I seemed depressed and out of it. She asked me to stay after school so we could talk. Before I knew it, I was pouring out my heart to her. She was so kind and understanding. She gave me encouragement and hope and helped build my confidence.

From then on I knew I had a friend. I went to her often and we talked over many problems. She always was willing to listen, no matter how busy she was. I don't think I would have made it if it hadn't been for her.

Please print this letter. I'd like her to know how much she is appreciated. — GRATEFUL.

Dear Grateful: Here's your letter. I'm not printing the name of your city because I'm sure there are hundreds, maybe thousands, of teachers who have earned your laurel wreath.

To those of you who owe a debt of gratitude to a teacher who has helped you over some rough spots, why not sit down and tell her or him? It would mean a great deal — and it might encourage these teachers to continue to help other young students who are stumbling in the wilderness.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

JUDGING ANEMIA

Q. Are pale lips a sign of anemia?

A. They can be, but the creases in the palms of the hands are probably more reliable for judging pallor than the lips or other mucous membrane areas. Unless anemia is severe the skin creases across the palms normally show a bright pink color. The reddish-pink color is constant regardless of how pale the intervening skin appears. Although these signs of anemia may be of general interest, the diagnosis of anemia should be made by a doctor on the basis of laboratory blood studies.

T. B. TEST

Q. What does a positive tuberculin test mean?

A. It means that the person either has or has at some time had tuberculosis and needs other examinations, including chest x-ray, to determine whether he currently has the disease.

The Ohio Tar and Asphalt Co. of Canton, contractor, has started to stockpile slag in preparation for East Liverpool's annual low-cost summer street surfacing program.

The firm expects to stock about 200 tons of the aggregate on city-owned property near Westgate School. The slag will be stored in other sections of the city, including the street barn on Pennsylvania Ave.

No definite date has been set for start of the program, in which the company will apply surface material to sections of 34 streets and spray a seal coat on streets which were surfaced originally in the 1963 and 1965 programs.

Board At Lisbon Clears Way For School Staff Pay Boosts

LISBON — The 65 teachers and 28 non - teaching employes in the Lisbon school system will receive more pay from the first day of this new school year.

At a special meeting Wednesday evening, the Board of Education passed a resolution to abide by provisions of Senate Bill 350 so the new state salary schedule can be adopted retroactive to the opening of school.

The bill will become effective Dec. 1. Supt. Joe W. Driscoll said the board's action will enable Lisbon to get the extra money in a lump sum as soon as the measure becomes law.

He said the legislation will mean local teachers will receive anywhere from $200 to $1,500 more than last year and the average increase for other employes will be about $175 per year.

No - degree, $4,300 to $6,100 in 10 years; bachelor's degree, $5,000 to $7,200 in 11 years; five years training, $5,200 to $7,675 in 11 years, and master's degree, $5,500 to $8,500 in 12 years.

Shafer Slates Meetings With Swedish Officials

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Gov. Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania, scheduled meetings with Swedish officials and businessmen today, the second day of his six-nation European tour to promote Pennsylvania's foreign commerce.

On Thursday Shafer and his party made up of Pennsylvania governmental and industrial officials, told Swedish businessmen, "If you want to trade fairly with us, then we want to trade fairly with you."

He was referring to his recent executive policy barring "our state and local government agencies from purchasing any products from a foreign nation against Pennsylvania goods."

Shafer's party visited the U.S. Trade Center for Scandanavia here and told newsmen of progress Pennsylvania has made in many areas. He called the state "a vest pocket edition of the world."

At a news conference in the U.S. Trade Center, Shafer said his mission—including the deputy Secretary of Commerce, Edward D. Smith, half a dozen industrial leaders in the electronics field and one banker—had set up contacts with businessmen here.

The governor also discussed poverty, pollution, and population problems and Republican presidential prospects.

Pennsylvania has introduced the most stringent water pollution laws in then ation, he said, adding that Pittsburgh has become a model of what can be done about industrial air pollution,

The state has overcome its birth rate problem and reversed the trend through programs such as the one sponsored by the "100,000 Pennsylvanias" group, Shafer said.

The governor described how the state's industry has developed from a coal-steel and transportation basis into a vast combine of manufacturing and services industries.

He praised the federal aid program for Appalachia but added that Pennsylvania does not get a fair share of federal money.

Shafer also explained what his administration is doing to avert racial strife, saying, "we have the finest racial law package in the nation, I think, including open housing."

He mentioned Michigan Gov. George Romney, California Gov. Ronald Reagan and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon as good Republican presidential prospects.

This year's Army football team has nine lettermen starting on the offensive unit. For five of them this is their third season at West Point.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Animal Actors Preferred

Producer Ivan Tors, whose successful "Flipper" and "Daktari" series made it easy for him to sell two more animal-oriented shows to TV this season, admits he prefers working with animals and mammals to humans.

Hal Humphrey

"Animals are easier to direct than humans. Did you know that the killer whale, the elephant and the dolphin have larger brains than humans? So, naturally, they are smarter," says Tors, with an accent left over from his native Hungary.

THE 51-YEAR-OLD producer became hooked on animal-mammal training while working with dolphins in the "Flipper" movie, on which he later based the TV series.

In a subsequent movie, "Clarence, the Cross-Eyed Lion," Tors found himself further intrigued with human-animal relations. When he decided to parlay "Clarence" into the TV series, "Daktari," Tors looked up Ralph Helfer, animal trainer with some land 40 miles from Los Angeles.

Helfer, an advocate of "affection training," and Tors went into partnership, bought more land and founded Africa, U.S.A., the animal compound where "Daktari" is filmed and now "Cowboy in Africa," one of Tors' two new series which begins on ABC next Monday. (The other series, about a bear, "Gentle Ben," premieres on CBS Sunday.)

TORS CLAIMS he has domesticated a collection of 100 buffalo, zebras, gnus and antelope for "Cowboy in Africa."

The story has to do with an Englishman's experiment with a wild game ranch in Africa and his hiring of an American cowboy to rope the game and stock the ranch.

"I got the idea from Ian .player, who is the brother of the South African golf player, Gary. Ian is chief game warden for 11 national parks in Zululand. It was he who told me that Africa is doomed unless it domesticates some of the wild life. Cattle do not thrive in Africa, you see," Ivan explains.

Fascinated with Ian Player's theory, Tors introduced him to Secretary of the Interior Stuart Udall and tried to talk our State Department into subsidizing a domesticated wild game project in Africa which Tors would use as the basis for a movie.

"THE STATE Department said no, so I did it myself with money I got from ABC against reruns of the movie on its network, then some more from an insurance company and $450,000 of my own money.

"The movie has just been released. It's called 'Africa — Texas Style,' and from it we did the TV series 'Cowboy in Africa,' so maybe you can say this is the only TV show that started with the State Department saying no," Tors reports with a chuckle.

Elands have been tamed in Africa before, but until Tors tried it, he says, no one had domesticated other species of antelope, zebras or African buffalo.

"The first week we just fed them in the corral. Then we put the hay outside of the corral but kept the water inside, so they didn't run off. It wasn't much longer before we were feeding them out of our hands," Tors states.

"I always let my animals approach me. I don't intrude upon them. Maybe one of them has a sore paw, or is disturbed for some other reason, and wants to be left alone."

FOR "Cowboy in Africa," Tors has one herd of animals at his Africa, U.S.A., compound and another in Africa where a second company shoots footage for the series. Chuck Connors plays the American cowboy and Ronald Howard, son of the late Leslie Howard, is the Englishman with the ranch.

"I know my films are somewhat schmaltzy, but I feel they balance some of the negativism we see so much of today in the movies and on TV.

"Also, this showing of animals and humans getting along with each other appeals to people. They decide that maybe there's hope for humans to get along with each other, too," Tors adds, philosophically.

He has five more TV series in the planning stage and all involve animals, naturally.

40% Vote Predicted

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Election Board Director Frank Justin predicted Thursday that only 40 per cent of Toledo's voters will turn out for the city's primary and open housing referendum next Tuesday. Justin based his prediction on voter registrations for the last two months, which now total 146,000.

Shafer Slates Meetings With Swedish Officials

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Gov. Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania, scheduled meetings with Swedish officials and businessmen today, the second day of his six-nation European tour to promote Pennsylvania's foreign commerce.

On Thursday Shafer and his party made up of Pennsylvania governmental and industrial officials, told Swedish businessmen, "If you want to trade fairly with us, then we want to trade fairly with you."

He was referring to his recent executive policy barring "our state and local government agencies from purchasing any products from a foreign nanation against Pennsylvania goods."

Shafer's party visited the U.S. Trade Center for Scandanavia here and told newsmen of progress Pennsylvania has made in many areas. He called the state "a vest pocket edition of the world."

At a news conference in the U.S. Trade Center, Shafer said his mission—including the deputy Secretary of Commerce, Edward D. Smith, half a dozen industrial leaders in the electronics field and one banker—had set up contacts with businessmen here.

The governor also discussed poverty, pollution, and population problems and Republican presidential prospects.

Pennsylvania has introduced the most stringent water pollution laws in then ation, he said, adding that Pittsburgh has become a model of what can be done about industrial air pollution,

The state has overcome its birth rate problem and reversed the trend through programs such as the one sponsored by the "100,000 Pennsylvanias" group, Shafer said.

The governor described how the state's industry has developed from a coal-steel and transportation basis into a vast combine of manufacturing and services industries.

He praised the federal aid program for Appalachia but added that Pennsylvania does not get a fair share of federal money.

Shafer also explained what his administration is doing to avert racial strife, saying, "we have the finest racial law package in the nation, I think, including open housing."

He mentioned Michigan Gov. George Romney, California Gov. Ronald Reagan and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon as good Republican presidential prospects.

This year's Army football team has nine lettermen starting on the offensive unit. For five of them this is their third season at West Point.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Animal Actors Preferred

Producer Ivan Tors, whose successful "Flipper" and "Daktari" series made it easy for him to sell two more animal-oriented shows to TV this season, admits he prefers working with animals and mammals to humans.

Hal Humphrey

"Animals are easier to direct than humans. Did you know that the killer whale, the elephant and the dolphin have larger brains than humans? So, naturally, they are smarter," says Tors, with an accent left over from his native Hungary.

THE 51-YEAR-OLD producer became hooked on animal-mammal training while working with dolphins in the "Flipper" movie, on which he later based the TV series.

In a subsequent movie, "Clarence, the Cross-Eyed Lion," Tors found himself further intrigued with human-animal relations. When he decided to parlay "Clarence" into the TV series, "Daktari," Tors looked up Ralph Helfer, animal trainer with some land 40 miles from Los Angeles.

Helfer, an advocate of "affection training," and Tors went into partnership, bought more land and founded Africa, U.S.A., the animal compound where "Daktari" is filmed and now "Cowboy in Africa," one of Tors' two new series which begins on ABC next Monday. (The other series, about a bear, "Gentle Ben," premieres on CBS Sunday.)

TORS CLAIMS he has domesticated a collection of 100 buffalo, zebras, gnus and antelope for "Cowboy in Africa."

The story has to do with an Englishman's experiment with a wild game ranch in Africa and his hiring of an American cowboy to rope the game and stock the ranch.

"I got the idea from Ian player, who is the brother of the South African golf player, Gary. Ian is chief game warden for 11 national parks in Zululand. It was he who told me that Africa is doomed unless it domesticates some of the wild life. Cattle do not thrive in Africa, you see," Ivan explains.

Fascinated with Ian Player's theory, Tors introduced him to Secretary of the Interior Stuart Udall and tried to talk our State Department into subsidizing a domesticated wild game project in Africa which Tors would use as the basis for a movie.

"THE STATE Department said no, so I did it myself with money I got from ABC against reruns of the movie on its network, then some more from an insurance company and $450,000 of my own money.

"The movie has just been released. It's called 'Africa — Texas Style,' and from it we did the TV series 'Cowboy in Africa,' so maybe you can say this is the only TV show that started with the State Department saying no," Tors reports with a chuckle.

Elands have been tamed in Africa before, but until Tors tried it, he says, no one had domesticated other species of antelope, zebras or African buffalo.

"The first week we just fed them in the corral. Then we put the hay outside of the corral but kept the water inside, so they didn't run off. It wasn't much longer before we were feeding them out of our hands," Tors states.

"I always let my animals approach me. I don't intrude upon them. Maybe one of them has a sore paw, or is disturbed for some other reason, and wants to be left alone."

FOR "Cowboy in Africa," Tors has one herd of animals at his Africa, U.S.A., compound and another in Africa where a second company shoots footage for the series. Chuck Connors plays the American cowboy and Ronald Howard, son of the late Leslie Howard, is the Englishman with the ranch.

"I know my films are somewhat schmaltzy, but I feel they balance some of the negativism we see so much of today in the movies and on TV.

"Also, this showing of animals and humans getting along with each other appeals to people. They decide that maybe there's hope for humans to get along with each other, too," Tors adds, philosophically.

He has five more TV series in the planning stage and all involve animals, naturally.

40% Vote Predicted

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Election Board Director Frank Justin predicted Thursday that only 40 per cent of Toledo's voters will turn out for the city's primary and open housing referendum next Tuesday. Justin based his prediction on voter registrations for the last two months, which now total 146,000.

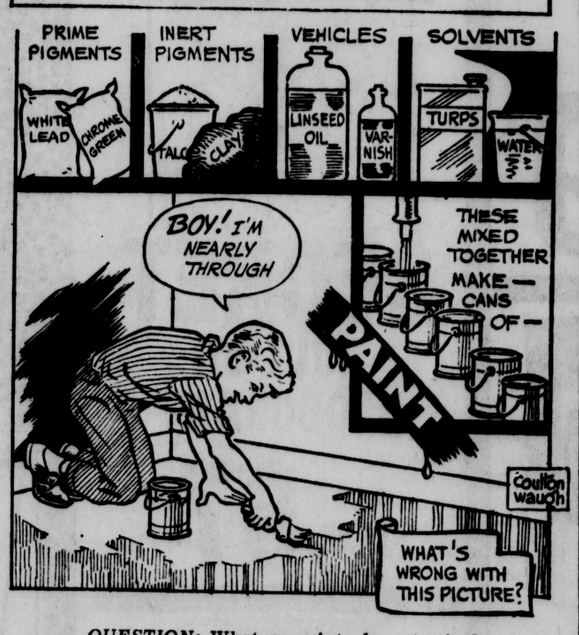
A Junior Editors Quiz About HOUSE PAINT



QUESTION: What goes into house paint?

ANSWER: Paint is magical stuff—look how quickly it can bring new freshness and life to worn-out battered surfaces People in the U.S. use more than 635 million gallons of paint a year. Paint is liquid with powders called pigments added. Some of these, the prime pigments, give the color, but others, the inert pigments, are added to give the paint body and make it more durable. In early days, colors in paint, especially the browns and reds, came mostly from colored earths. Ancient Egyptians made blues and violets fom plants. In 1897, a process of getting colors from products of coal tar was discovered, so the modern paint maker has a wide list of prime pigments from which to choose. Besides talc and clay, mica is often used as an inert pigment. Also, in addition to the older liquids or vehicles we show, there are newer ones such as alkyd resin. And there are paints with water and rubber bases.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, Sept. 8, the 251st day of 1967. There are 114 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1564, a Spanish expedition landed at what is now St. Augustine, Fla., and founded the first permanent settlement of Europeans in North America.

On this date —

In 1664, Peter Stuyvesant surrendered New Amsterdam to the British.

In 1760, Wisconsin became English territory. It formerly was controlled by France.

In 1855, the Crimean War ended.

In 1900, a death toll of 6,000 was counted in a hurricane and tidal wave which smashed the Galveston, Tex. area.

In 1934, the luxury liner Morro Castle burned off the New Jersey coast, with a loss of 134 lives.

In 1935, Huey Long, D-La., was shot at Baton Rouge, La. He died two days later.

Ten years ago — Pope Pius urged the Roman Catholic clergy to study the morality of radio and television, a study similar to the appraisal of motion pictures.

Five years ago — Vice President Lyndon E. Johnson said an overseas tour convinced him that U.S. foreign aid had strengthened allied nations against Communist subversion.

One year ago — Black Power advocate Stokely Carmichael was arrested in connection with rioting in Atlanta, Ga. two days earlier.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Folks: We got many and varied answers to the request for a solution to the problem of dark marks on dresses caused by the metal strip on kitchen drainboards. . .

This stripping is probably made of aluminum and aluminum is a porous metal. Since it is in the kitchen, it collects carbon and grease, and oxidizes just being exposed to the air.

My suggestion to all of you sweet chicka-dees who have this trouble is to first scrub the metal strip vigorously with a soap-filled steel wool pad to remove the imbedded grease and soil.

Then wet a dry rag with pure vinegar and wipe thoroughly to take off all of the soap film.Plainwater won't do the job,ladies, you've got to have that vinegar acid. And don't rinse it off.

Many people wrote in that after it was dry, they took clear fingernail polish and painted all the metal stripping along the immediate work area. If you find the tiny brush in the bottle too small, use a water color brush out of the children's paintbox.

They all said they had no more black marks across their tummy, and it sure saved their clothes. So since all it takes is a bottle of clear nail polish, which most of us already have on hand, why not try it?

Others wrote that they used clear shellac, lacquer, or varnish with good results. If you have some on hand . .. fine.

Any many, many thanks to those of you who took the time to write us with your solution. Bless you all.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Don't you love window boxes full of colorful flowers?

I have several of them and have found that if I whitewash the inside of these boxes before putting in the soil, it will not only preserve the wooden box, but helps keep insects out.

MRS. ANDERSON.

HELOISE.

DEAR HEOLOISE: I've found that corkscrew upholstery tacks, used just behind the beading at the top of my sofa slipcover, will keep the cover from slipping down every time someone sits on the couch. I space them about five inches apart all across the back.

These tacks can be purchased at a dime store and are used primarily for holding chair doilies in place, etc.

This trick has saved a lot of frustration and the almost irresistible urge to straighten the cover the moment someone got up from the couch.

PEGGY BECKER.

DEAR HELOISE: I have imitation tile walls.

The other day I could not find a good rag or pad to wax the wall with, so I picked up my old glove pot holder, put it on and waxed away. It worked just beautifully for me.

From now on, I'll always use it for this particular waxing job.

MRS. WEATHERWAX.

DEAR HELOISE: I've found another use for nylon net . . .

I tie a double piece, about three-quarters of the way up and around the outside of my messy Myna bird's cage because he always had food all over the floor.

This way he can see out and we can see in, yet the net keeps his food in the cage.

MRS. B. CHECCHIN.

DEAR HELOISE: An old safety razor, with the blade removed, makes an efficient tool for cleaning the brush in my carpet sweeper.

The teeth of the razor do a good job of catching hair, lint and string and pulling it from the brush.

Martha Le Coque.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a quickie . . .

I find that if I tie a knot in each corner of my bottom bed sheets they will fit as smoothly as the tailored kind.

I use this method always and love it . . . only takes a moment to untie them for laundering.

MRS. A.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

One Down And One Up

Try a challenging experiment. At the very next meal, get up from the table short of that nice full feeling. You will find that 30 minutes later you will feel quite content. Right now is the most effective time to take measures to cut appetite down to size.

Ida Jean Kain

The art of good timing includes knowing precisely when present action will eliminate future trouble. Action now can certainly eliminate future poundage.

If you feel hungrier now than you did prior to vacation, quite likely you tossed calorie caution to the sea breezes or mountain air, and ate heartily. Well in so doing you upped your appestat, the governor that controls appetite. Now it takes more food to fill the capacious space and bring the feeling of having had enough.

BY DELIBERATELY not overeating you diminish your desire to overeat. In five days you can lessen your food capacity perceptively. You may enjoy the experience.

If you have lived for months — or years — with that feeling of being full and surfeited on completion of a meal, you know the heaviness that sets in 30 minutes later. Not only can this dull feeling be avoided, but the practice of getting up from the table short of satisfy can cut your appetite down to size. The practice is definitely slimming. Get enthusiastic about it. Think in terms of what you want to achieve. You will find this unexpectedly rewarding.

At the start of a new season it is a good plan to weigh and make note of how much you gained. Don't minimize the importance of dealing firmly with 5 or 6 extra pounds. Although it may seem far fetched, the individuals who are burdened with 25 to 50 excess pounds were once just 5 pounds above their ideal weight.

Following vacation it is quite natural to mistake the hankering for more food for real hunger. Give yourself a test. What are you hungry for?

After finishing the main course, would you be happy to eat any food . . . say a tomato or seconds on a green vegetable? Go ahead. But if your desire at this point is only for a favorite food, or something sweet to top off a modest meal, you are not really hungry. From this point on you cater to false appetite.

BEFORE THE brisk autumn days that whet the appetite breeze into town, take measures to get your appetite under control. You'll be so glad you did.

You can be one-down on calories and one-up on nutrients if you build your meals around the protective foods. The New Calorie Chart gives a pattern by which to eat-to-build-leanness.

Send stamped, self - addressed, long envelope for New Calorie Chart. Address your request to Ida Jean Kain in care of The Review.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Folks: We got many and varied answers to the request for a solution to the problem of dark marks on dresses caused by the metal strip on kitchen drainboards. . .

This stripping is probably made of aluminum and aluminum is a porous metal. Since it is in the kitchen, it collects carbon and grease, and oxidizes just being exposed to the air.

My suggestion to all of you sweet chicka-dees who have this trouble is to first scrub the metal strip vigorously with a soap-filled steel wool pad to remove the imbedded grease and soil.

Then wet a dry rag with pure vinegar and wipe thoroughly to take off all of the soap film.Plainwater won't do the job,ladies, you've got to have that vinegar acid. And don't rinse it off.

Many people wrote in that after it was dry, they took clear fingernail polish and painted all the metal stripping along the immediate work area. If you find the tiny brush in the bottle too small, use a water color brush out of the children's paintbox.
